COTTON PRICE STEADY UNDER CREDIT PLAN

Intermediate Credit System Provides Funds for Cotton Farmer

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1926, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—General satisfaction is expressed here that the federal government, in cooperation with the leaders of the cotton industry in the south, has managed to break the psychological panic which seized the cotton growers when the government estimates of over-production were first revealed.

Not only has the market price of cotton been maintained through the period of adjustment but even in the face of increased figures as to the total supply, there has been an effective resistance against further price decline.

COOLIDGE NAMES COMMITTEE

Just how has this been accomplished? The government itself has not introduced any new form of subsidy
nor has it sponsored any of the principles of the McNary-Haugen plan though the problem essentially was one of dealing with a surplus production. The appointment by President Coolidge of a cotton committee headed by Eugene Meyer, Jr., was the first step. Then the committee visited important cotton states and encouraged the formation of associations which raised $18-000,000 for lending purposes. The government then under existing laws advanced $160,000,000 of credit in the hands of the cotton farmer through the intermediate credit system. Government experts appraised the true value of the cotton crop and showed that the total amount of credit that would extend was well within the limits of a good risk. This atmosphere of confidence gave the whole cotton situation a new aspect.

While the credit machinery has always been available, it was the confidence disseminated by the federal government at the opportune moment
which is now being emphasized as a turning point in the crisis. The incident is not unlike the situation which arose in the cattle industry
when the War Finance corporation a few years ago extended its aid. Indeed Mr. Meyer as chairman of the War Finance corporation has indicated in his report that whenever the government has extended credit
through agricultural associations,
there has been virtually no loss to the federal treasury.

BRITISH DOMINIONS EQUALS OF ENGLAND

Each Now Has Same Rights
in External and Internal Affairs

New York.—(P)—The reorganization of the British empire, by which the dominions are established officially as autonomous units, is credited largely to the efforts of General J. B.
M. Hertzog, premier of the Union of South Africa, by Eric H. Louw, commissioner from the union to the United States. Mr. Louw has just returned to New York from a conference with Premier Hertzog in London.

General Hertzog secured, said Mr.
Louw, the two major points for which he contended — a declaration of full autonomy for the dominions, in both external and internal affairs, and a declaration of equality of status with Great Britain.

The foreign relations clauses recommend that in future treaties the British minister shall sign for Great Britain with each dominion signing for itself, and recognize that in foreign relations, neither Great Britain
nor the dominions can be committed to the acceptance of active obligations without the consent of their own governments.

"Lost Dog"

The new meaning for this term is "not advertised in the Post-Crescent!"
Mrs. Ed. Gensler, 1408 N.
Richmond-St., wasn't taking any chances on making the word
"Lost" permanent as far as her dog was concerned, especially as the little son of the family grieved for the lost dog. Her procedure was to phone "Ad-taker" and have a Post-Crescent
"Lost" advertisement inserted.
At the end of the third day the dog was found—and the little boy was made very happy.

MAYOR RULE GIVES KEY OF APPLETON TO SANTA CLAUS

Every boy and every girl in Appleton is making time just waiting for the clock to circle around until 4:08
Wednesday afternoon when Santa Claus will arrive in Appleton over the Chicago and Northwestern railroad.
He has personally asked every boy and girl and every man and woman in Appleton to meet him at the depot.
A rousing reception will be given Santa Claus. Hundreds, maybe thousands of boys and girls will be at the depot; there will be music by the high school band and paper horns
will be given to the youngsters to give him noisy greeting.

Santa Claus will get into a private car and will be taken to the city hall where he will be officially welcomed to Appleton by Mayor Albert
C. Rule. Mayor Rule will present Santa Claus to the audience and will give him a key to the city. The procession from the depot to the city hall
will be on N. Oneida-st.

Santa Claus will bring with him a huge stock of Appleton's stores and a fleet of trucks will be at the depot
to take the big loads from the train.
These trucks, heavily laden will be in the procession from the depot.
After stocking the stores Santa Claus will rest. It is understood he will remain in Appleton until Friday
when he will visit the stores to see for himself what has been done with his stock.

FISH USED AS EVIDENCE IN HALL MURDER

Defense Claims Henry Stevens Weighed Bluefish at Time of Slaying

Jersey City, N. J.—(P)—Mrs. Jane
Gibson has had a relapse. Her condition was reported "anything but favorable" in a Jersey City hospital Monday. Mrs. Gibson testified three hours from a cot in the Hall-Mills courtroom in Somerville Thursday and it was believed the strain was exacting its toll.

Courthouse, Somerville, N. J.—(P)— A six-pound "blue," caught by Arthur Applegate of Lavallette on the night of Sept. 14, 1922, continued to win posthumous fame as the Hall-
Mills trial proceeded here Monday.
This big bluefish looms large in the alibi offered by Henry Stevens, charged with his sister, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and brother, Willie Stevens, charged with the murder of Mrs. El-canor R. Mills.

CLAIMS HE WEIGHED FISH

Henry Stevens testified in his own defense that he weighed a six-pounder caught by Arthur Applegate on the night the choir singer was slain, with the Rev. Edward W. Hall, brother-in-law of Stevens. Neighbors from Lavallette came again Monday to testify that Stevens was on the beach the night of Sept. 14, 1922, three persons placing him there at 10 o'clock, or after. The killing is alleged to have taken place at about 10:20 miles from the New Jersey coast town.

COOK TESTIFIES

Mrs. Anna Evanson, cook for the Henry Stevens family at the time of the double slaying, was the first witness Monday. Mrs. Evanson's testimony corroborated the story which Henry Stevens told on the stand of his movements at the time of the killing.

"Have you been home all the time since early August of this year?" Senator Simpson asked on cross-examination.

"I was away for two weeks in the first part of October," she said, "with some friends of mine at Beach Haven."
A few days ago Simpson announced in court that Mrs. Evanson was missing, and his line of cross-examination was apparently in the direction of attempting to prove that the defense had hidden the witness from his investigators.

Boston, Mass.—(P)—Henry Ford is invited by Nathan Strauss to change his anti-Semitic views. The New York philanthropist thinks the manufacturer has used his wealth "in a campaign of slander against the Jewish people."
Mr. Strauss wants Mr. Ford to select eight members of an investigating committee of ten and he is confident such a committee would prove that synagogues have misinterpreted Mr.
Ford.

Speaking here at a national conference of the United Palestine Appeal, which opened the year's drive for $7,500,000, Mr. Strauss said Sunday night:

$100,000 INCREASE IN COUNTY TAX

COUNCIL NOW READY TO FIX 1926 TAX RATE

Aldermen Meet Monday Evening to Finish Work
on City Budget

The city's share of county taxes is approximately $100,000 larger this year than in 1925, according to figures made public Monday morning by John E. Hantsch, county clerk. The city's share this year is $344,318.41, compared with $244,318.61 a year ago.
County school taxes are included in these figures. The city's apportionment represents 41.831 per cent of the entire county tax. The equalization value of Appleton is $33,268,156, according to the report of the finance committee adopted Saturday by the county board of supervisors at the last meeting of the November session. Last year Appleton paid 37.25 per cent of the county tax.

Highway charges and the 2-mill tax represent the largest single portion of the tax, $162,155.31. The remainder of the city's apportionment is made up as follows:

Charitable and penal institutions,
$5,952.93; old age pension, $3,796.66;
county and town aid, $12,236.46; reassessment charge, $7,250.08; $150,000 bond issue, $3,765.06; $100,000 bond issue, $1,455.55; $25,000 bond issue, $31,156.57; county tax, $12,147.77;
county school tax, $25,108.00; mothers'
pension, $12,550.20.

FIX TAX RATE

The city's budget for 1927 will be completed and the tax rate fixed by the common council at 7:30 Monday evening, meeting as a committee of the whole. Aldermen George Richard called the meeting Monday morning
as soon as he was notified that the city had received its apportionment of the county taxes from the county clerk.

At its meeting last Wednesday evening the council resolved itself into a committee of the whole and took a recess subject to the call of the chairman.

That additional difficulty will be encountered in keeping the tax rate at 3 per cent is indicated by receipt of the county tax. In discussing the budget for next year at former meetings it was understood that an increase could be expected in the county tax, but the council was at least $50,000 short in its estimate.

Besides this unexpected increase,
the council still has its paying program for next year, the school budget and the water department budget to prepare. All these matters will be disposed of Monday evening, it is expected.

MISSOURIAN DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF FUND

Hawes' Foe Disclaims Direct Evidence Before Senate Committee

Kansas City, Mo.—(P)—H. R.
Walmley, Republican, former member of the state legislature who charged fraud in connection with the election of Senator-Elect Harry B.
Hawes of St. Louis, Democrat, Monday denied he had direct knowledge of any money which had been spent in the election.

Walmley was the first witness before Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, Missouri, chairman of the senate campaign investigating committee.

He was subpoenaed by Senator Reed
after a letter he had written to Senator George W. Norris, Republican, Nebraska, in which he stated it was "common gossip" that the Kansas City street railways had spent between $250,000 and $750,000 in the election in Jackson-co. Nov. 2, in consideration for which it was to obtain a 12-year extension on its franchise.

For example, the Rockefellers, both father and son, are devoting their millions to help the welfare of mankind,
to promote science and advance civilization, while a man like Henry Ford,
who has become one of the richest money kinds of the world, has engaged in a campaign of slander against the Jewish people, has spread malicious lies about them, and stirred up trouble, mischief and hatred here and in Europe.

"It takes the great to make amendments for their mistakes and, although we have suffered much from these past attacks on innocent, inoffensive people, we will forgive and forget. If Mr.
Ford admits the wrong he has inadvertently inflicted in the past,"
Mr. Strauss said he would name two if the committee and both would be Christians.

Queen And Princess To Send Photos To 'Dugout'

Receive Souvenirs from Disabled Veterans and Promise Them Pictures

New York.—(P)—World war veterans of the Dugout, a club for disabled soldiers, Monday looked forward to the receipt of a photograph of one of the handsomest queens in Europe and a good-looking princess who is not above walking home so that an injured policeman would be taken to a hospital in her automobile. Queen

Marie and Princess Ileana of Rumania visited the Dugout Sunday with General Pershing. They were offered souvenirs made by the men and the princess selected a lampshade with a ship on it. She offered to send her photograph in return.

"We'll send a photograph of both of us," said the queen, "but on condition that you hang it out where the men can see it and not in the official's room. We want the men to have something to remember us by." The queen bought a tea tray.

While her mother was at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, where she paid special attention to the American wing, the princess attended the Calvary Protestant Episcopal church.
After the services Ileana visited the home of the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Samuel M. Schumacher, Jr.

The princess was driving her own car afterward when Eugene Roberts,
one of her motorcycle escort, collided
with an automobile and was slightly injured. She got out and helped him into her own machine, then she and her companion Miss Ida Marr, walked several blocks to the Ambassador hotel.

DRY LEAGUE FIGHTS MEDICINAL LIQUOR

Andrews' Proposal for Manufacturer Under U. S. Supervision Meets Opposition

Washington.—(P)—The proposal of Assistant Secretary Andrews, the government's chief prohibition enforcer,
for immediate resumption of the manufacture of medicinal whiskey, has failed to receive the approval, for the present at least, of the Anti-Saloon league.

General Andrews' program calls for creation by congress at its approaching short session of a supervised private corporation to take the existing supply of 15,000,000 gallons of medicinal whiskey and begin at once
the manufacture of more liquor to replenish this diminishing stock, which he estimates, will be exhausted in five years.

The position of the Anti-Saloon league, as announced by its general counsel, Wayne B. Wheeler, is that immediate manufacture of whiskey is not necessary and that it would be possible to import sufficient whiskey
from abroad if needed to meet medical demands, until a definite program of replacement could be formulated.

MAN BREAKS BACK WHEN HE FALLS OFF SCAFFOLD

H. C. Fraser, 43, of Nichols, who suffered a broken neck when he fell from a scaffold while working on a house near Nichols, Friday, Nov. 19,
has been removed to the hospital here.
Fraser fell 11 feet and struck a 10 inch plank, which was broken, and then fell to the ground. He was taken to Black Creek where he has been under the care of a physician for the past week. He is not in a critical condition, according to the attending physician, although he probably will be confined to the hospital for three or four months.

ORDERS U. S. PROBE OF ATTACK BY MACHINE-GUNS

East St. Louis, Ill.—(P)—United States District Attorney Harold Baker Monday ordered an immediate investigation of reports that the office of Deputy United States Marshal Zach Leitch at Harrisburg, Saline-co, was machine-gunned by gangsters Saturday night and again Sunday night.
The attack, which was reported to have been made by men in several automobiles, is the first directed against an agency of the federal government in the southern Illinois gang warfare.

UNSETTLED WEATHER DELAYS NAVY FLIGHT

Norfolk, Va.—(P)—Reports of unsettled weather in the Caribbean sea caused postponement Monday of the navy's non-stop flight from Hampton Roads to Panama. Lieutenant Commander H. C. Hartlett, commanding the two PN-10 planes which will take off on the attempted 2,200 mile trip, announced Monday that he does not expect to start before Tuesday or Wednesday.

AUTOS, PARTLY PAID FOR MAY BE SEIZED BY U. S.

Washington, D. C.—(P)—Automobiles being purchased on the instalment plan, with title remaining in the motor company were held by the supreme court Monday to be subject to foreclosure by the government
when used in the illegal transportation of intoxicating liquor. The decision was in a case from Alabama.
A somewhat similar proceeding has come up from Washington state.

MAINE SENATE NOMINEE MUST FACE CHARGES

Gould's Opponents Allege Large Expenditures and Bribery in Race

Portland, Me.—(P)—With Republican control of the senate depending on the special election in this state on Nov. 29, Arthur R. Gould, Republican nominee, was faced Monday with charges of exceeding legal expenses
in the recent primary and with having given a $100,000 bribe several years ago to the premier of New Brunswick. In addition there was a demand before Senator Reed of Missouri, for a federal inquiry into the primary situation here.

Fighting back at his opponents, Mr.
Gould said that the bribe story was old, and asserted the money had been paid by former business associates in a railroad construction project as a political campaign contribution and without his knowledge.

STATEMENT CHARGES "BRIBE"

The charges were contained in a statement issued by a committee associated with the campaign of Fulton J. Redman, Democratic senatorial nominee. The statement reviews the investigation conducted by Chief Justice Harrison A. McKewen of the province in which the jurist characterized the payment to premier J. K.
Fleming as a "bribe." Secretary of State Frank B. Hall, of Augusta, announces a hearing for next Friday on a petition filed Saturday by the Rev.
A. F. Leigh of Randolph. The clergyman, prominent in the Ku Klux Klan organization in this state, charged Gould had exceeded the $5,100 campaign expense allowed by law.

Gould recently filed an expense account which showed disbursements of $1,324. The Klan was credited with having supported another candidate in the primary which determined the nominee to succeed the late Senator Bert Fernald. Mr. Gould won decisively over three opponents while
Mr. Redman was unopposed for the Democratic nomination. Gould's supporters Monday charged his accusers
with unfair and eleventh hour tactics.

MILWAUKEE POLICE SEEK HOLDUP MEN

Unidentified Robbers Throttle
Three During Last Three Nights

Milwaukee.—(P)—For three succeeding nights the police have received complaints of men being throttled and robbed in the vicinity of Chestnut and Tenth-sts. and special details of police are patrolling the district looking for the two thieves.

The first attack occurred Thursday night and Martin Salorska, 4514 Fourteenth-st., was the victim. He was relieved of his watch and $5.50.
While one of the men squeezed his neck by clenching his arm around it
the other went through his pockets.
The performance has been staged twice since and William Schmidt, 1315
Chestnut-st., and Frank Schupara, 550 Sixth-st., were the victims. The thieves took $25. from Schmidt and $16 from Schupara. None of the men robbed could give any description of the robbers. Early Monday morning the police took in custody a Mexican as a suspect and he will be questioned by Captain Harry McCrory.

PEACHES BROWNING GETS WEEKLY ALIMONY OF $300

White Plains, N. Y.—(P)—Mrs.
Frances Heenan (Peaches) Browning was awarded $300 a week alimony and counsel fees of $5,500, pending settlement of her suit for separation from her husband, Edward W. Browning, wealthy real estate man, by Justice Morsehauser Monday.

Residents Don't Want To Change Name Of Street

The ordinance committee of the common council Monday received a petition signed by nine of the 12 residents of E. South-st. urging that the name of that street be not changed.
A resolution proposing that the name of this street be changed to E.
Irving-pl was introduced at the council meeting last Wednesday evening
by Alderman Steinhauer of the First ward. It was referred to the ordinance committee, of which Alderman Fiedler is chairman, and a recommendation on the matter will be prepared by the committee at a meeting of the city hall at 7 o'clock Monday evening.

If the council sees fit to adopt the resolution, Alderman Mike Steinhauer will have succeeded in erecting a lasting monument to his only son, Irving.
It is pointed out.

Alderman Steinhauer, it is understood, was asked to select a name from three submitted to him by the signatories of the resolution. The name Irving happened to be one of the three, and Irving was the name suggested in the resolution.

Whether the fact that the alderman has a son by that name had any weight in making his decision is not known, of course.

The suggestion that the street be named Harwood-pl or Harwood-st as an honor to Frank Harwood, community leader, is made in a letter received by the Post-Crescent Monday.

TRIAL OPENS

ALBERT B. FALL

FALL, DOHENY FACE TRIAL IN NAVY OIL CASE

May Begin Taking Testimony
Tuesday in District of Columbia

Washington, D. C.—(P)—Trial of Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior under President Harding, and Edward L. Doheny, California oil magnate, on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in naval oil leases, opened Monday in the District of Columbia Supreme Court.
There was little likelihood that the taking of testimony could be started before Tuesday.

Despite the wider interest in the trial, based on indictments growing out of the celebrated senate oil investigation, the public will have little opportunity to participate directly in the proceedings, since the capacity of the small courtroom will be taxed to accommodate the army of lawyers
and newspapermen who will share it with the jury and court attaches.

FRIENDS SINCE YOUTH

Friends since early manhood, when they were prospectors together in the old time west, Fall and Doheny have been brought together here in the old age to answer to an indictment based on the leasing of the Elk Hills, Calif., naval reserve. With Doheny's son, Edward L. Doheny, Jr., they also are facing another indictment growing out of the investigation charging bribery in connection with a loan of $100,000 which the elder Doheny told of making to his old friend while negotiations for the lease were in progress. This charge has not yet been brought to trial.

Another conspiracy case is also pending against Fall in which Harry F. Sinclair, who obtained from him
the lease to the navy's teapot dome reserve, is named. This case, however, is before the United States Supreme court, which has been asked to rule upon the action of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, based on a law enacted after the proceeding had been brought before it, in omitting an appeal from a lower court decision refusing to quash the indictment.

Owen J. Roberts and former Senator
Alfonso Pomeroy, special government counsel, were assisted by District Attorney Peyton Gordon and a large array of others. Frank J. Hogan, of Washington is chief of counsel for the Los Angeles man, while Wilton J.
Lambert, Jr., of Washington, heads
the lawyers for Fall.

graphers were barred from the courtroom but they took up vantage points
outside the building to snap the principal figures in the drama about to unfold.

Paul Allen, a restaurant owner, the first juror called was the first to qualify.

Two petitions were presented to Judge Evans, one for an appeal from the decision of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, denying the minority whistleblowers, known as the Jameson group, the right to intervene, and the other for an appeal from Judge Wilkerson's order directing the sale Monday of the road.

IS ONLY OFFER MADE AT BUTTE AUCTION SALE

Reorganization Group Qualifies by Deposit in Federal Court

SUBMIT BID TO COURT

Eastern Financiers Make Trip to Montana on Special Train

Butte, Mont.—(P)—Only one bid, totalling $140,000,000, was made at the public sale of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad here Monday morning. The bid was made by representatives of the reorganization committee and will be submitted to the federal court in Chicago on Dec. 13 for approval.

It required just a minute more than half an hour for a transaction which ultimately probably means the transfer of a property worth three quarters of a billion dollars. While the approval of the Interstate Commerce commission for the reorganization plan is required no hitch is expected. None occurred at the sale.

The reorganization managers are Kuhn, Loeb and Co., and the National City Bank of New York. Their bid alone had been qualified at midnight
by deposit of sufficient securities with the federal court in Chicago.

A number of eastern financiers and railroad council representing wealth estimated at $300,000,000 came from the east on a special train to be present at the auction, which was expected to take three or four hours.
Preparing for any eventuality, they had arranged for direct telephone communication with New York
throughout the proceedings. H. E.
Bryant, former president of the road,
and present head of the receivership,
was among the visitors.

BANKRUPT IN MARCH

The railroad was placed in the hands of receivers March 13, 1925, as a result of friendly involuntary proceedings instituted before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson at Chicago.
The properties including more than 8,000 miles of main line tracks, had an estimated valuation of between $250,000,000 and $750,000,000. The outstanding indebtedness was listed as $465,045,000 on Jan. 1, 1925, when officials stated the road would be unable to meet a $48,000,000 bond issue.
Judge Wilkerson placed the upset price from which bids were to start at $122,500,000.

Allegations were made at the Chicago hearing that the receivership
was directed by the railroad bankers
to bring about a financial reorganization.

PLAN REORGANIZATION

Chicago.—(P)—The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway reorganization plan of Kuhn, Loeb and Co. and the National City Co. both of New York, whose representatives appeared as bidders at the sale of the road in Butte, Mont., Monday contemplates a 36 per cent reduction in the road's fixed charges and a $70-000,000 assessment against stockholders.

Reorganization under the plan also would mean the passing of the historic line's title, it being the intention of the reorganization managers to have its control pass to a new Delaware corporation, the Chicago, Milwaukee and Pacific Railroad company.

EARNINGS $20,000,000

Recent earnings of the system are approximately $20,000,000 and the plan would bring fixed interest charges
well within that amount by a net
reduction in interest-bearing securities of more than $27,000,000, and a net reduction in fixed interest charges on the funded debt of from about $21-500,000 to less than $14,000,000.

Readjustment of the road's whole financial structure is contemplated to correct the weaknesses which contributed to the receivership, which was brought about when the railroad was faced by the maturing of $50,000,000
of bonds and interest falling due in 1925. This would have been followed by other bond maturities and government net obligations of $260,000,000
due at intervals in 1934.

FOUR NEW SENATORS WILL TAKE OFFICE AT NEXT SESSION

Progressives Will Not Swell
Ranks Until Congress Meets
In 1927

Washington—Four new faces will be seen in the United States senate when it convenes in December.

Senators Cummings of Iowa, and Fernald of Maine, died during recess. David W. Stewart succeeds the former. The latter's successor has not yet been chosen, but it is said that Tom Pickett, of the opinion of the senate.

Senators Butler of Massachusetts, and Williams of Missouri, do not come back like the other "game ducks," but dropped out immediately upon being seated at the polls, never having been elected senators, but only appointees, to fill vacancies. Ex-Senator David I. Walsh replaces Butler and Representative Harry B. Hawes, Williams.

The newcomers, then, will be Stewart, Walsh, Hawes and the (as yet) unknown man named Pickett.

MANY "GAME DUCKS"
The "game duck" designation—senators beaten for re-election or re-election—is an unusually large one, including Senators Wadsworth of New York, Weller of Maryland, Ernst of Kentucky, Harrell of Oklahoma, Cameron of Arizona, McKinley of Illinois, Means of Colorado, Pepper of Pennsylvania, Leavitt of Wisconsin, and Stanfield of Oregon.

It will also be the last session for Senator Underwood of Alabama, though he wasn't beaten, having prudently announced that he wasn't a candidate.

The current guess is that appointive federal jobs will be found for most of the "game ducks." There are rumors of coming vacancies in the cabinet. It so they'll be convenient to put returning senators into. Perhaps a few diplomatic posts will be available.

PROGRESSIVES IN 1927
The new Progressives will not take office in the senate until 1927, but when they do their group, including those already in harness, will be the largest in the history of Progressivism.

Of the really dependable Progressives there will be Senators Norris, La Follette, Frazier and Nye, John J. Blaine and Smith W. Brookhart. Senator Shipstead belongs, to all intents and purposes, in the same alignment, though his party label is that of the Farmer-Laborites.

The bloc is stronger, by two, than even in the time of the late Senator La Follette, the elder.

There are also several more or less "regular" Republican senators who flock with the Progressives part of the time—"in the twilight zone," as Senator Shipstead expresses it.

Senators Borah, Howell and Johnson are notable of this type, and, to some extent, Senators Capper, Couzens, McMaster and Norbeck should be included.

DEMOCRATIC ALIGNMENT
Several Democrats work remarkably well as teammates of the Progressive Republicans. Ex-Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, who will be back next year, always was very much in har-

Schola Cantorum Will Include 170 Voices

Approximately 170 voices will be included in the Schola Cantorum of Lawrence college conservatory which will sing Handel's "Messiah" at Lawrence Memorial chapel Sunday evening Dec. 19. One hundred thirteen sopranos and altos have been announced for the chorus by Dean Carl J. Waterman and the 60 men selected for the Men's Glee club will sing the tenor and basso parts in the oratorio.

Six Appleton girls are included in the list: Miss Wilma Bucholz, soprano; Miss Ion Treiss, Miss Marian Russell, Miss Henrietta Pratt, Miss Laura Poterbach, Miss Marie Voockes, alto. Other persons are Lorene Canon, La Valle, Lorene Fredericksen, Neenah, Grace Morrison, Edgerton, Lucille Bitters, Oconto, Pearl Whisenand of Shawano, Eudora Konz of Gresham, Ernestine Johnson of Port Edwards, Marjorie Parkinson of Mineral Point, Persis Schneck of Wauwatosa, Roseanna Bennett of Clintonville, Dorothy Neltzel of Burnett, Gertrude Edwards of Bloomington, Louise Gardner of Milwaukee, Margaret Boslough of Wausau, Irene Schneider of Markesan, Ruth Ann Linn of Oshkosh, Kathleen Liebl of Menasha, Gertrude Schlerf of Oshkosh, Louella Gribble of Ironwood, Mich., Helen Harker of Mineral Point, Charlotte Waterman of Kibbourn, Mildred Frankenberg of West Bend, Leora Calkins of Shawano, Beryl Maurer of West De Pere, Margaret Jones of Randolph, Helen Bevier of Kiel, Lyn-

To sum up, Senate Progressivism will be somewhere from 10 to 25 strong in the next Congress.

This is inclusive of elements from all parties and all degrees of Progressiveness, but even the minimum figure, with so closely balanced a Senate, will give the bloc more power than it has possessed at any past session of congress.

1,400 PERSONS AT HOME TALENT PLAY

Two Big Audiences Fill St. Joseph Hall to See "The Empty House"

More than 1,400 persons attended the matinee and evening showing of "The Empty House" a three act mystery play, given by the Young Ladies society of St. Joseph church Sunday afternoon and evening at St. Joseph hall. Approximately 700 attended the afternoon performance and the same number in the evening.

The work of the amateur actors was good and the audience was enthusiastic. The action of the play centered around Tom Ferguson, a young playwright who desired to write a mystery play. The role was played by John Hollenbeck. In the empty house next door to the Ferguson home, Miss Barbara Ferguson, the leading lady, played by Miss Hilda Kitzinger, saw strange lights and an investigation is started by Ralph Everts, as Anthony Allison, the hero of the play.

A series of complications and mix-ups led to a closing climax that was a surprise. Miss Ceelle Haag as Peggy Palmer made a hit with the audience.

Others who took part in the production were Miss Lucille Mathes as Nora; Maurice Roemer as Larry Ferguson; Miss Elizabeth Roemer as Friedricka Ferguson; Melvin Helnitz as Ralph Overton; Miss Helen Block as Retta Reeves; Miss Agnes Thieser as Edith Allison; Marvin Ludwig as Ned; Miss Agnes Doertler as Florine; Miss Marie Alfert as Constance; Charles Vande Zande as Judge Lennox.

Alfred Finch of Menasha directed the play which has been under preparation for the past month.

SUGGESTIONS FOR PARING TAXES POUR IN ON COMMITTEE

Hundreds of Letters Submitted to Board Working on Tax Problem

Madison—(P)—Scores of suggestions from individuals and organizations in all parts of the state are receiving the consideration of the inter-committee on administration and taxation prior to a report which will be made by the committee soon.

The suggestions came in the form of answers to questionnaires sent out by the committee, and although some are impractical and without sufficient value to warrant their incorporation in tax reforms, all have been compiled for the committee's reference by Edwin L. Witte, chief of the Wisconsin Legislative reference library.

One of the recommendations favors a discontinuance of the certificates of title law applying to motor cars, a suggestion backed by the Wisconsin State Automobile association. The Wisconsin county boards association and several individuals also favor a discontinuance of the teachers' retirement fund.

Consolidation of several departments was advocated in many answers received, among them being the creation of a centralized clerical office for the entire state service and the uniting of all agricultural departments. A complete scheme of reorganizing the state government with a consolidation program was advocated by the Janesville Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations.

Unnecessary state employees were also set out in the questionnaires and a varied assortment of answers was received, some individuals favoring the abolishment of school inspectors "of all kinds."

A reduction in the salaries of state employees was not favored by the majority of persons answering the questionnaire there being a general attitude of maintaining the present wage level and in some instances increasing the amount.

Waste was charged in the highway appropriations by a small number of individuals. An increase in state appropriations was advocated by various organizations, centering chiefly about the conservation department, forestry and forest fire prevention, eradication of bovine tuberculosis movement and immigration work. The industrial commission also was favored for an increased appropriation.

Exemption from all personal taxes and exemption from automobile taxation was suggested in a few of the answers received while one person favored taxation of church property, now exempt under the law.

Other recommendations representing personal opinions for economy and efficiency in the operation of state government were included in the hundreds of answers received, all of which were brought before the committee.

Mr. Tobias has appeared before some of the most notable bodies of men in the country, and has addressed Rotary clubs and similar organizations in the majority of larger cities in the east. His lecture is said to be short, interesting and replete with new ideas in business.

Arrangements are being completed now at the chamber of commerce office for filling reservations. Ladies will be invited.

Dinner will be served at 6 o'clock, and the program will follow immediately after. The meeting will be concluded at about 7:45, according to the committee in charge.

TAKE INVENTORY OF ATHLETIC GOODS

Football Equipment at High School Is Cleaned and Packed for Winter

Football pants, shirts, socks, blankets, boots and other necessities have been inventoried and will be given their between season attention by Mrs. Richard Preetz, janitress, and Orville Harris, engineer, at Appleton high school. Only one football and two jerseys were included on the list for the past season, it was found in the inventory. The ball disappeared when the team played with the Fond du Lac high school, and the time of the jerseys' loss is not known.

The annual procedure at the close of the season is to take stock of what is left of the equipment distributed to the team early in the fall. The faculty manager, J. Raymond Walsh, the coach, Joseph Shields, and the student manager, Francis Rooney, compose the inventory committee.

A thorough scrubbing and disinfecting process is applied to everything used and the articles are then packed away in the high school attic until summer when repairs are made and new equipment ordered to take the place of that which is beyond repair. In other years about $600 was spent replacing athletic equipment.

COMMITTEE REPORT ON TAXES PREPARED
Recommendations of Chamber of Commerce Committee to Be Distributed

Recommendations of the legislative committee of the chamber of commerce on referendum No. 19 of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States was mailed to all members of the local organization on Saturday. The referendum was recently referred to the committee and the recommendations returned this week.

A unanimous vote was cast in favor of all questions except two. No vote was cast on a fact of increased taxes and increased cost of government, the committee's report points out. Some of the arguments which explain this condition, according to the committee, are:

The higher standard of living which accompanies it.

The increased income of the public which justifies it.

The pay-is-you-go policy of states and sub-divisions which produce it.

The delayed local improvements (caused by the privileged call of the federal government for priority during the World War) which have contributed to a higher scale of state and local taxes than the present federal tax.

The highway program throughout the country (the public want it) is an economic reason for increased state and local expenses.

The higher school cost is recognized as necessary to compete for labor in the open market.

"While these are only a part of the reasons which have caused the present high level of state and local taxation, an honest effort to control these expenditures is the purpose, we think, of the questions herewith submitted," the committee stated.

Members of the legislative committee are J. D. Steele, chairman, J. P. Frank, Leo Resin, A. C. Rule, Seymour Gmeiner, E. A. Dettman, A. F. Kleizen, and Jos. Koffend, Jr.

FRENCH TOUCH SEEN IN U. S. OPERETTAS DURING THIS SEASON

French - American Comique Opens 10-week Engagement in New York

New York—(AP)—Theatrical entertainment in America's show capital will be flavored dramatically and lyrically with a dash of French this season.

The first taste will be served Monday night by the new French-American Opera Comique when it opens a ten weeks' engagement with "Giro-Giro." A different operetta will be presented each week by two companies, one French and the other American, the performances being divided between them.

Mlle. Sorel Returns
Mlle. Cecile Sorel and her company
from the Comedie Francaise will contribute their share to the drama in a limited engagement of French repertoire beginning November 22. She appeared here four years ago.
Each of the French organizations
asserts that it has a company of stars.
They apparently are willing to test
an assertion of a fellow countryman.
Lee Staats, ballet master of the Paris Opera.

"You can no longer fool Americans
in things theatrical," said Staats.
"Americans are not prepared blindly
to welcome entire French companies.
Too many mistakes have been made in the past and now we are paying for them. French companies sent to the United States have invariably consisted of one great artist and a haphazard collection of mediocrities as support. American audiences demand perfect, complete, harmonious and balanced ensembles.

"The people of the United States are growing intellectually whereas many nations in Europe are retrograding."

OPERA PLANS TO STAY
The Opera Comique production is an experiment. The venture is described in the prospectus as the first time an all-French cast of "foremost operatic artists" has appeared in French opera and operetta in America.
Upon its success during the next ten weeks depends its future, said Max Bendix, artistic director. If its reception is encouraging it will become a permanent American institution with its own theater. Plans for a tour of Montreal, Chicago and other cities are also contingent upon the response of New York to the innovation.

Fourteen operettas are in the repertoire of the Opera Comique organization. Mlle. Sorel and the Comedie Francaise group will be seen in five plays, opening the engagement with "Maitresse de Roi" by Aderer and Ephraim, based on the life of Mme.
Du Barry.

Miss Mary Schenck, a senior at Ap-

the staff who will attend will be announced at a meeting Thursday afternoon.

The convention will take the place of the Central Interscholastic Press association meeting held in other years
in Madison, but which will be omitted this year. The two day program will consist of general and technical meetings to be addressed by members of the university staff and technical experts from various states. The entertainment will include a banquet and dance.

Last year 511 delegates from Wisconsin attended the sixth annual convention of the Central Interscholastic Press association. Ten of the Talisman staff were present.

ZIMMERMAN SEEKS HELP TO PREPARE MESSAGE

Madison—(AP)—Preliminary steps in the formation of his message to the 1927 legislature will be taken by Governor-elect Fred R. Zimmerman this week when a series of conferences
will be held dealing with possible leg-

It is the governor-elect's intention to call into conference representatives of the various and numerous economic and social groups in the state with a view to determining what legislation will be asked of the 1927 session of the state legislature by the people of Wisconsin.

Mr. Zimmerman will take up this task after having had less than a

THE LOWDEN BOOM

The Lowden boom for president persists. It is kept alive by some of the newspapers in the Mid-west, by political friends of the former Illinois governor and by various organizations of farmers. Mr. Lowden deservedly stands well with the farmer, and he is one of the best authorities on agriculture in the country. He has given many years to actual farming and to a study of farm problems. He is in favor of the underlying principles of the McNary-Haugen bill for raising prices of farm products in the American market above the world market price, a proposal that has a large following in Mid-western states, particularly in the wheat and corn belts. Mr. Lowden was one of the best governors Illinois ever had, and stands out in such sharp contrast to the caliber and character of executives since him as to make him more or less of a national figure. He was a presidential possibility in both the elections of 1920 and 1924.

How much of the movement in behalf of Mr. Lowden is actuated by the desire to put in the White house a personal representative and true champion of the farmer, and how much of it is political and anti-Coolidge, is a question. There are leaders in the Republican party who are ready to seize on any available candidate in opposition to the president. Most of their grievances are personal and do not relate to broad principles of national policy.

In the last few years a strong sectional sense has been built up in the Mid-west. It has been led to consider itself regional and apart from the rest of the country in its economic and political interests by a number of facts. It has been taught to believe it is being exploited by an unbalanced tariff; that it was discriminated against by such practices as Pittsburg-plus; that it is at a serious disadvantage with the Atlantic and Pacific seaboard in transportation, by reason of the Panama canal; that it is entitled to special consideration in interior waterway development; that its agricultural necessities require special legislation for their protection and advancement. The doctrine of regional economic and political unity has had a strong appeal. This local mid-continent sentiment has been fanned and accelerated by politicians who saw in it the road to place and power. It is natural, therefore, that the Mid-west should be strongly receptive to the proposition that the next president should be of its stock, as well as its special representative.

Viewed in this light, Mr. Lowden's candidacy has important possibilities. He undoubtedly can muster formidable strength in the Central west. How strong he would be in the Far west we do not know, but if the Pacific coast got an idea that the next president was to support the Mid-west sectional transportation claims, it might not be so keen for him. In the East it is doubtful if Mr. Lowden would command much support, at least so long as Mr. Coolidge or an eastern candidate were in the field. It is certain the East would prefer Coolidge to Lowden, and the "east" might extend into a portion of the Central west. In that event the South and the Far western states might control the nomination, assuming there would be a deadlock between the Central west and the East.

It is an interesting situation for speculation, but we think the chances are that the influence of the East would prevail and that Mr. Coolidge would be renominated over the candidacy of Mr. Lowden. However, should Coolidge not be a candidate the Lowden boom would become a flattering prospect.

MR. LENROOT'S SUGGESTION

Mr. Lenroot has made some pertinent comments on the administration's plan of tax reduction for next year. He disagrees with Mr. Mellon's proposal to grant a rebate to taxpayers for the year 1927 equal to the amount of the present surplus, on the ground that to do so would benefit largely corporations and big business men and not the people from whom the taxes actually have been collected. In other words, he infers that to make a refund to those who paid taxes into the treasury or to give credit to those who will pay next March, would be a pure contribution to the immediate taxpayers and not to the public. He says it is generally admitted that most corporation and business taxes are passed on to the people in the price of things they buy to wear, eat and use, and that the rebate would have the effect of merely permitting the taxpayer to keep a part of the taxes already collected from the people.

It seems to us there is force to this contention. Practically, it makes no difference to the government whether the tax is rebated or whether there is to be a reduction in taxes for a single year, with due advance notice. It also makes no difference to the taxpayer in dollars and cents, except the minor item of interest on his money, if the tax is rebated a year earlier. Theoretically, the tax already has been added to overhead and passed on to the consumer, so that in this sense Mr. Lenroot is right when he says that a rebate would be of no benefit to the public as the ultimate consumer and ultimate taxpayer.

Nevertheless, it is a close question whether corporations or business concerns would materially alter prices by reason of an expectation of reduced taxes a year ahead when they knew the reduction would be for only one year. As a political talking point, what the Wisconsin senator says has force, but we doubt if it would have much practical application. Furthermore, a rebate in 1927 could just as well be figured in overhead for that year as a reduction in 1928 could be applied to overhead for that year. However, it is probable a rebate to taxpayers would be better received by the public in the form Mr. Lenroot suggests. We agree with him that inasmuch as corporation taxpayers have received no reduction in late years and inasmuch as corporations taxes more than any other are passed on to the people, the bulk of the reduction should be applied to corporation taxes.

THE BOY AND STRANGERS

I'll run the chance for kindness' sake
On promises that strangers make:
Sometimes I'll cash a check, although
The worth of it I do not know;
But there's one risk I will not run—
I'll trust no stranger with my son.

Strangers may take my gold and flee,
And only slight the loss will be;
Lars and tricksters may deceive,
And not for long o'er that I'll grieve,
But I'll not risk my boy to go
With people that I do not know.

I have a task that's wholly mine,
A care I cannot well resign.
Others, perhaps, would do it well,
But that I cannot surely tell;
And fearful lest he go astray,
I'll teach my boy from day to day.

I'll be his father to the end,
I'll be his father and his friend;
What he would learn of life I'll teach,
I'll stay always within his reach,
I owe a duty to my son,
And I shall see that it is done.

No smooth-voiced stranger shall come in
And lead my boy to shameful sin,
Nor shall I send him out to play
With all who chance to come his way.
With money many a risk I'll run,
But strangers cannot have my son.

REMOVING THE CAUSE OF RHEUMATISM

About a dozen different pains, aches, lamenesses or stiffnesses popularly persist as "rheumatism," although I still firmly maintain that there is no such disease or ailment as "rheumatism." The most common trouble so called is infectious chronic arthritis—long enduring inflammation of a joint or joints due to bacteria.

People who are all through wearing red flannel underwear, physically and mentally, know that the bacteria or germs responsible for chronic arthritis reach the joint linings usually from some depot or focus elsewhere in the body, say infected tonsils. Suppose a victim of such "rheumatism" has undergone a thorough examination of the kind outlined in the discussion preceding, and the doctor narrows the question down to a specific focus deep in the crypt of one tonsil, a tonsil which is neither enlarged or abnormal appearing on the surface. The doctor says: "Hum? I think this habit of humming with a question mark has grown on doctors in recent years, perhaps because the doctors in the movies hum their way through harrowing scenes. Old fashioned doctors would have said: 'There's a collection of pus in that right tonsil—better have the tonsil out.' For long before the focal infection principle was introduced, doctors were removing diseased tonsils to prevent and cure 'rheumatism.' Only in the old days the doctor pronounced his finding and the sentence: nowadays he hums about it. The frenzied specialism of the present age has something to do with this, but now let's return to our rood looking infected tonsil.

Is there any specific test by which the doctor may determine exactly whether the germs in the inflamed joint tissues are the identical strain present in the tonsil? Er, well, scientifically, yes; practically, no. Practically one must accept the doctor's expert opinion and sacrifice the tonsil or keep it.

I don't know what earthly use an adult can have for tonsils anyway, even if they are perfectly healthy tonsils. However, I don't blame anyone for feeling some affection for his tonsils if they have not given him much trouble. The adult who harbors superstitions about the relation of tonsils to voice, immunity or fertility probably can't comprehend what I'm talking about when I say there is no such disease as rheumatism, and so this part of the discussion will not interest him.

Germs from such septic focus, injected into the ear veins of guinea pigs or rabbits, will produce arthritis in the animals within 72 hours, and that is a fairly definite proof that the septic focus is responsible for the joint trouble of the patient.

"Rheumatism" patients who have sacrificed their tonsils, teeth, perhaps their appendix or gallbladder or other more or less useless appendages, yet still have their arthritis, are a living testimonial to the wisdom of gambling. In these cases the trouble is that the infected structures removed were not the focus—perhaps the actual septic focus, remains hidden somewhere in the body. A thorough physical examination is essential in every case of "rheumatism" before a reasonably accurate opinion can be arrived at, as to the significance of any such seats of infection found. Sometimes, when radical treatment has been postponed too long, the infected joint itself with its infiltrated synovial capsule, becomes a secondary septic focus.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Say When
Is it better to drink water before and after meals or during the course of the meal. A claims drinking water during the meal aids digestion. I am (B)
Answer.—Drink when you are thirsty. Cold water shortly before the meal stimulates the flow of gastric juice and so aids digestion. It is advisable to drink water freely in the course of the meal if you feel thirsty.

Why the Good Die Young
Why does a ruffian who disobeys all of nature's laws all his life outlive a person who leads a quiet, peaceful life and obeys the laws of nature? Why is the former type often a strong, robust individual, whereas the latter is often a frail, weak individual? (H. R.)

Answer.—I think it just seems that way. Balzac said it costs as much to support a vice as it does to support a family. Old Schopenhauer was wrong. Persons who are too weak to raise Cain probably do die young. On the other hand you will find that most people who retain vigor and health to a ripe old age have taken care of themselves and lived wholesome lives.

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

A WRITER AT EIGHTY

A week or two ago I came across a paragraph in a newspaper to the effect that Anna Katherine Green was that day celebrating her eightieth birthday. Probably thousands of others felt something like a shock when they read the brief dispatch. They were probably under the impression that this well known spinner of detective yarns was somewhere in the forties or fifties.

But eighty years old and still concocting detective stories—that fact alone makes her a figure a figure almost worthy of respect even if she never wrote a paragraph that is even remotely related to literature, as has become the case. Such a person has become a kind of institution and has acquired a kind of virtue by mere length of service.

WRITING LONG TIME

She must have been at it on the day when most men and women of middle age today were born and she kept at it all these years, turning out detective yarn after detective yarn. No matter that not a single one of these stories was worth the paper it was written on, her long career in writing liberal canons of literature. Anyone who could keep on writing detective stories for 20 years would be worthy of respect, but think of keeping at the job for 50 or 60 years, as Anna Katherine Green seems to have done.

There are very, very few detective stories in any literature that are real literature. Less than once in a generation perhaps some genius succeeds in satisfying the almost universal hunger for detective fiction and at the same time producing literature. Poe did it in more than one of his short stories. And perhaps the greatest detective story from the point of view of genuine literature was achieved by Dostoevsky in "Crime and Punishment," but in that case the term

"detective story" is used in a rather broad sense. Conan Doyle is the most famous writer of detective stories of modern times but it is not at all certain that his Sherlock Holmes stories are literature.

Anna Katherine Green does not belong in that distinguished company. It is practically impossible for anyone who has a feeling for literature to read her. She has ever created a character. The people of her books are only names on the printed page. She has never written a book that has the slightest chance to survive as literature. Her only quality is ingenuity in plot construction. And even there she is not original in the sense in which Poe was original in his detective stories. The original in his detective stories is a great many other writers whose fame is much greater, she wrote a comparatively small number of distinct stories and then went on repeating them year after year, merely changing the names of her characters and shifting the situations, much in the manner in which a bridge player shuffles the cards preparatory to making a new deal.

MANY WRITERS LIVE

But most writers would get tired of doing that year after year. Most writers, great and small, do in fact get tired after a while. They seem to themselves pumped dry. Hamlin Garland at 60 confessed it was tragic to have plenty of material for novels but the energy to work them out. And Conan Doyle pitched Sherlock Holmes over a cliff because he was sick of him. And perhaps most writers come to a time when they would like to do that to all their characters.

But for the writer who produces real literature there is a kind of constant replenishment in the very act of creation. It is well known the exercise of creative talent renews creative vitality; every genuine writer knows that. But to keep turning out machine made detective plots, purely mechanical and without a single spark of real life in them, and to do this for 50 or 60 years, as Anna Katherine Green has done—it is a feat that probably no other person in the world has duplicated.

Anna Katherine Green merits the kind of respect that we feel for the person who can eat two dozen eggs at a single meal or who can do the Charleston for 18 hours at a stretch.

The Question Box

Q. Were any of the mill scenes in the picture "Men of Steel" taken in Pittsburgh? J. K.

A. We are informed that the mill scenes in "Men of Steel" were filmed in Birmingham, Alabama. As far as we have been able to learn, no filming was done in Pittsburgh.

Q. Will you please tell me if the frost has any effect on the leaves in the Fall—that is, does it affect them any more quickly after frost J. M. G.

A. Leaves change their color regardless of whether or not they are attacked by frost. The brilliant colors of dying leaves in autumn are due partly to chemical changes in the decaying chlorophyll and partly to the exposure of pigment cells previously concealed by an abundance of chlorophyll or other feature of vital activity. The leaf drops because its no longer receives nourishment from the stem or twig.

Q. Has there ever been a flight across Canada by a seaplane? W. W.

A. Squadron Leader A. Earl Godfrey, of the Royal Canadian Air Force, recently arrived at Jericho Beach, Vancouver, B. C. after completing the first seaplane flight across Canada, from tide-water to tide-water.

Q. What is being done in this country for the care of dependent children? R. M. F.

A. The Children's Bureau says that in the United States there are 218,000 dependent children under the care of private and public agencies and institutions; 200,000 crippled, deaf, or blind children are in hospitals and special schools; 135,000 mentally defective children are in special schools and other private and public institutions; and 130,000 children are given public aid in their own homes.

Q. How long did Palestine remain a Roman province? R. D. C.

A. It remained an integral part of the Roman Empire until 614 A. D.

New York. — See-sawing up and down Broadway, I did see within the past week more 10-gallon hats than I ever beheld in the combined states of Montana, Wyoming and Arizona. . . . The rodeo has come to town and, out where the West Forties begin, the flavor of "sagebrush is colorfully added to the amazing mixture already to be found. . . .

Not the least incongruous sight is to witness the cowpunchers, after risking their necks, tether their horses in the basement of Madison Square Garden and then hurry away to the corner where their sedans and coupes are parked and ride away through the great closed spaces of Broadway. . . .

Speaking of cowboys, I am reminded of a street in Greenwich Village where a number of typically made-to-order Bohemian resorts fight for the tourist trade. . . . In front of one stands a pirate, front of the other a cowboy. . . . For some time the rivalry between the two deckmen had been so keen that sparks flew at each exchange of glance. . . . Finally the pirate wandered over and, snapping his fingers under the cowboy's nose, challenged him to a riding match in Central Park. . . . The cowboy had never been aboard a horse and had to turn down the challenge. . . . On the following day, by the way of revenge, he approached, the pirate and challenged him to a boat race on the Hudson. . . . Alas, the pirate knew nothing of boats or water. . . . So, at present hours are even.

Saw Mack Sennett, he of the bathing girls and great, shaggy head, stepping about the night places of our village and a few mornings later encountered him chatting with Gloria Swanson, one of the many graduates of Sennett's school of "hard knocks." . . .

Saw Prince Friedel von Hohenlohe, nephew of Queen Marie and a member of her party until New York was reached. . . . And they tell me he prefers the company of merry and witty folk of that of those in the social register and is often to be seen at a musical or literary salon than the drawing rooms of the best people. . . .

Saw Jean Acker, one-time wife of the late Rudolph Valentino, who now disports upon the vaudeville stage. . . . Saw John Drew, the veteran actor, come from his country place to the Lamb's Club to celebrate his 71st anniversary. . . . Saw Sax Rohmer, who wrote the "Fu Manchu" stories, and lately arrived from Britain with his wife, who is so pretty that the movies grabbed her at once. . . .

And, oh, yes, our weekly report on Harry Thaw. . . . Understand that he got into an argument in a night club with a certain very pretty movie actress. . . . That she swung a fair fist in the general direction of Harry's jaw and that he left with more speed than dignity. . . . And has, I am told, not been seen again in this particular place. . . .

PARKING TRUCKS IN WALKS

Editor Post-Crescent—I see by your columns where our very able body of lawmakers known to the public as the city council have undertaken to keep the alleys free of automobiles. This is being done to leave places for loading and unloading of trucks. Now then, this is the point I wish to make. Why do these trucks take up the walks, which should be used for parking. I saw one in our busiest block on the busiest side of the street 1, e. the north side of College Avenue, between Oshkosh and Madison walking mind you waiting for a store to open at 2 o'clock. The truck was there at twenty minutes to 9. If we can not park in the alleys why can trucks park in our stalls.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

The Grass Of The Sea Pastures

Diatoms

BY AUSTIN H. CLARK
Smithsonian Institution

Wonderfully beautiful in all their varied forms and incredibly exquisite in the fineness of the intricate details of their structure, these are truly nature's little jewels.

They are made entirely of quartz, and they are extremely common, in the sea, in lakes and ponds, and rivers, on the moist surfaces of rocks, in fact wherever there is moisture and light. They are the lids or valves which, fitted together somewhat as the bottom and cover of a pill-box, enclose the living diatoms.

Diatoms are extremely minute plants. Of a medium sized kind it would take two hundred individuals to make an inch; while a few are larger than this, many are much smaller. Many kinds of diatoms live attached to plants and other objects in the water on which they usually form a brownish scum or a furry covering, but many others freely float about suspended in the water. In the Arctic and Antarctic oceans they may at times be so abundant as to color the water for miles and miles and to give it a slight, but noticeable, "smooth" feeling. Under these conditions each quart of water would contain many millions of them.

Diatoms and other more or less microscopic plants are to all the creatures of the open ocean what the land plants are to be the creatures on the land.

Whales and sharks depend for their existence indirectly on the diatoms, since a number of small crustaceans called copepods feed on the diatoms and are in turn fed upon by whales and sharks.

On land the basic food for all the animals is provided by the grass and other plants so familiar to us. But in the sea the basic food on which the animals live is furnished mostly by microscopic plants.

LEGION PREPARES FOR STATE KEGLÉ TOURNAMENT HERE

Executives Decide to Sponsor Motion Picture Show

The motion picture, "We're In the Navy Now," which will be shown at Fischer's Appleton Theatre on Nov. 23 and 24 and Dec. 1 and 2, will be sponsored by One's Johnston post of the American Legion. It was decided Friday evening at a dinner and meeting of the post executive committee at Hotel Appleton. Louis Lutz, manager of the theatre was a guest at the meeting and he explained the plan. Members of the post will sell tickets and part of the profit from the sale will go into the post treasury making the picture a Legion benefit performance.

A committee was appointed to take charge of the ticket sale consisting of H. L. Plummer, George Butth, Charles Sparling, Joseph Witmer, H. A. Sylvester and George Dame. Another committee was appointed to arrange for a place for rehearsal for the Legion Saxophone band this winter and a financial committee to prepare a budget for the coming year also was appointed.

Henry Ullman was appointed purchasing agent of the post. Members of the financial committee are Harry Sylvester, Harvey Pribe, Fred Heinrich, Henry Ullman and August Arons.

Theodore Frank, a member of the saxophone band, was appointed its manager and Edward F. Mummi, will be director, replacing Capt. E. F. Rogers, who left the city after organizing the group. Mr. Frank reported that the band is working on a program for the annual spring concert which will be held in March. The band will rehearse every Tuesday evening until that time, he said.

The executives made special plans for the next regular meeting of the post which will be held Monday evening, Dec. 6, at Elk hall. Plans for the state bowling tournament of the Legion which will be sponsored by the Johnston post in this city in February were announced by C. O. East, post athletic officer, who will be in charge of the tourney. Mr. East is arranging a schedule of games and is sending word to all posts in the state, asking them to organize as many teams as possible. The local post expects several hundred bowlers at the tourney. Plans were started to enter several booster teams from Appleton. About 200 Legionnaires will be asked to roll on these teams which are not expected to place in the money.

The committee to take care of a place for band rehearsals is composed of F. F. Wheeler, H. H. Helble and Lester Smith.

PREPARE PLANS FOR AVENUE RESURFACING

Plans for resurfacing E. College-ave from Drew to Green Bay-ave, a distance of six blocks, are being prepared by Milton C. Donnelly, assistant city engineer. Although the work has not yet been authorized by the common council, the project is assured of being included in the 1927 paving program. Attempts were made last summer to complete the work at that time but the city was unable to secure waivers from all the property owners, thus necessitating postponing it another year. The paving program probably will be prepared by the council next week.

AMUNDSON SPEAKER AT PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

R. A. Amundson, county agent gave an illustrated lecture on Having Confidence in One's Self at the meeting of the Parent Teacher association of LaFollette school in the town of Ellington on Nov. 19. Children of the school presented a program of recitations and songs after which an indoor baseball game was played. A committee was appointed to arrange for the next meeting in January and consists of Miss Viola Woehler, chairman, Miss Vera Ort, Harold Ort and Miss Grace Miller, teacher.

BUS LINE TO BUILD GARAGE ON AVENUE

Fox River Bus Line Secures Permit Authorizing Erection of Structure

Construction of a garage building at 823 W. College-ave by Olaf Lundquist of the Fox River Bus Line was authorized Friday by Walter Zschaechnner, building inspector. The structure will be of concrete block and will have a frontage of 33 feet, a depth of 65 feet and a height of 10 feet. The estimated cost is approximately $5,000.

Building permits authorizing the construction of two residences and garages, two garages and an addition to a garage at an estimated cost of $12,175 also were issued Friday by the building inspector. They were granted to J. H. Hamner for a garage 614 W. Spring-st, Fred H. Lillge, Jr. for a residence and garage at 565 Brewster-st, Fred H. Lillge, Jr. for residence and garage at 500 E. Brewster-st, E. A. Potter for a garage 713 E. Brewster-st and Gus Reimer for an addition to a garage at 58 Bel laire-ct.

If applications for building permits continue to be received in as large volume the latter part of the month as they have in the first three weeks, building activity probably will exceed that of the corresponding month last year, according to the building inspector.

Uncle John Thinks Cal Will Seek Office Again

Washington—Political wisecracks may shout that Calvin Coolidge will not run again for president in 1928 but Uncle John Wilder thinks he will. Uncle John is violinist in the Coolidge orchestra from the president's town, Plymouth, Vt.

"None of us has the slightest doubt that Cal will run again for president in 1928," says Uncle John, who is a relative of the president. "He's the people's president, isn't he? Business has been good. I guess, and there isn't any reason for a change, is there?" The third term bogey means nothing to the old home town. Didn't Colonel John Coolidge, single-handed, manage Plymouth for 12 years?

The 14 Plymouthites touring the country in vaudeville are "seeing the sights," but their desire to help the president amounts to a burning zeal. The private opinion of Herb Moore, the president's second cousin, is that the troupe is doing Plymouth's distinguished son "a tremendous amount of good." Moore is the show's leader, announcer and prompter.

"We're going to keep his name before the people," Herb explained. "Our act gives a better idea of the sort of place he was born and brought up in."

It is with especial pride that Uncle John and his fellow players, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Cady, Clarence Blanchard and Lewis Carpenter, play "Pop Goes the Weasel!" When the company was received at the White House by Mr. Coolidge, the president himself demanded, "Why don't you play 'Pop Goes the Weasel'?" And that was how the snappiest tune in the repertoire was placed on the program.

When the troupe billed for a local theater the management was somewhat in doubt as to what would be Mr. Coolidge's reaction. It decided not to ballyhoo the fact that at least three of his relatives were coming to town to fiddle and dance. But it was learned that the president approved of the tour, feeling that its lesson of simplicity would be helpful.

Some of the 15 who stayed home were too aged or infirm. Others were indispensable like Miss Florence Cilley, keeper of the village postoffice, store and dance hall, and Aurora Pierce, housekeeper at the Coolidge homestead. But Azro Johnson, chairman of the board of selectmen, came along.

"Y" BOYS ORGANIZE FOR CLEANUP CAMPAIGN

Seventeen members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. who worked in the 1926 membership campaign met for upper Friday evening at the association to plan for a "cleanup drive." The boys were the leading workers in the recent drive. The workers will attempt to secure 50 more boy members in an active two-week campaign started Saturday and ending Friday evening Dec. 3 when a membership banquet will be held. The banquet will be for all boys who join the association during the two weeks and have paid their membership in full as well as all campaign workers who have secured one or more memberships during the period. Three prizes will be given for the best producers in the drive but their nature will be kept secret until Dec. 3. An addition of 50 members will give the department 425 for the year with the prospect of 500 members by September with the usual summer memberships. The additional drive was suggested by the boys themselves, who felt that they could get several likely prospects who could not be secured during the regular campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. William Olson of Wisconsin Rapids are spending several days with friends in Appleton.

Miss Marjorie Mason of Cleveland, Ohio, left for her home after spending the last three weeks with relatives here.

SNAKES, ALLIGATORS, LIZARDS, LEOPARDS MUST DIE
TO SATISFY DEMANDS FOR WOMEN'S SHOES, HATS AND COATS

BY BETSY SCHUYLER

NEW YORK—The tropics must be very short on animal life this season, since all the snakes, alligators, lizards and leopards are seen in such herds of Fifth avenue.

But perchance the plodding old cow is rounding out a full and useful life since her honest leather is so conspicuously absent on the world's most crowded thoroughfare.

Never in my lifetime, and I suppose there were enough alligators in the whole state of Florida to make the shoes and handbags I have seen this year, or that lizards could be required in such numbers, or that snakes would be so awfully decent about shedding their skins.

Life becomes more junglelike each day. A woman can wear snakeskin shoes, a leopard coat, a lizardskin bag and possibly an alligator belt and somehow look very cosmopolitan and fashionable—in fact she can teach all these jungle creatures something about wearing their own skins.

One of the smartest outfits I saw at Belmont Park at the races was an antelope coat in horizontal stripes, belted with alligator, and a handbag of spotted baby calf—and a fur flower. Now I ask you, what stronger propaganda for our dumb animal than this?

It took consistent plugging to put over snakeskin. That old trouble woman and even she began back in the Garden of Eden was patched up only after an effort. But today you can see a delicate creature, who would scream for help if an inquiring garter snake crossed her path, with her feet in her constrictor, and her hands fondling a snakeskin bag without betraying any suggestion of terror.

I have seen entire hats made of snakeskin and others of gray or tan felt with bands of beaver. And the matching shoe and handbag set in alligator, lizard or snake, is an expensive enough proposition that you don't need to be afraid to carry it.

CALF IS USED

Calfskin coats and accessories are very new this season. Last winter, black and white spotted calfskin pumps were introduced at Palm Beach—and to me they looked very fresh, and positively ugly, but one can get used to anything. This year we have coats of brown or black baby calf, mottled with yellow or white shoes, handbags, and even for stiff little flowers for sport wear, made of the same hide.

Incidentally, fur flowers are exceedingly smart, and fur bands on gloves there are for those who like novelties. However, the well-dressed woman seem to stick to beige and gray pull-ons.

Wolverine, a very shaggy, wolfish pelt, is one of the most popular of furs this year for banding tweed and heavy wool coats. It is very attractive on colored coats in green, rose, and henna.

The fur-lined coat is much more popular than last season, and there are most attractive looking fur-lined capes that are worn with tweed or velvet dresses.

FUR HATS NEXT
At the races, I saw Mrs. Theodore Grosvenor in a charming fur-lined coat, with the new shawl collar. With her was Gwendolyn Rose, in a tweed suit over which she wore a tiger-skin coat collared and cuffed with beaver.

I am willing to forecast that the fur hat, that is the small toque affair, will have considerable of a play before the season is over, based on the fact that while we have had no winter weather to speak of, there have already been several fur hats on the avenue.

Mimi Brokaw, who always mirrors the newest modes was seen hurrying by Sherry's in a straightline coat of American broadtail, and a cunning little round bun of a hat in the same fur.

Huge collars and cuffs of a mottled light fox which I took for badger or natural lynx trimmed a very smart coat worn by Mrs. Morris De Peyster. Speaking of new pelts, I saw a very unusual coat which, upon investigation, I learned was made of giraffe hide. It had a sly little ruffile of the fur around the neck, set just above the neckline with a narrow band of broad tail.

Red fur was used very effectively on a coat worn by Mrs. Snowden A. Farnsworth. Plain convey had been colored a lovely yellow, and was used

THE TINYMITES

The Tynymites rose with the dawn, and shortly found the food tree not far away. "Ha, ha, ho, ho," the laughter came. "You're eating corn? Well, that's a shame." And then they knew 'twas Cloway and the Corny. "Gee, that's mighty mean," on seeing all the plates piled clean. "I'd planned a lovely breakfast, and it nearly breaks my heart."

Then Scouty said, "Why make a fuss? I guess that's what was up for us. We were the first to steal the food, so why should we complain? Someone has turned the same old trick on us and turned it mighty slick. It ought to teach us all that we should never steal again."

Well, anyway, the food was dry, so Cloway said, "We'd better try to plan another breakfast with whatever can be found. Let's hike to yonder field of corn. It does no good to sit and mourn. There'll be no harm if we just eat what's lying on the ground."

So off they ran and ate the corn till they were full and sat and loafed in peace until they heard some boisterous laughter in a

STURDY TRIMMING

One of the smart new details in gloves is thong leather trimming, as shown in this swagger model of Arabian skin.

Thomas Edison got up every morning at five, or earlier, and spent long weary hours of work in his laboratory—and having perfected one invention started bravely on another.

Luther Burbank labored incessantly. John Wanamaker, the wizard of merchant, worked tirelessly, built up a business and fortune, and kept on working! The Wright Brothers, Madame Curie, Marconi, who gave the world respectively airplanes, radium and wireless telegraphy, did not stop at guessing what they might do.

Every novel written is a long, wearing piece of work. No author has a magic pen. Energy and stickativeness are the mothers of invention.

NEW YORK WOMAN WILL SWIM ENGLISH CHANNEL
THEN MAYBE SHE WILL TRY THE ATLANTIC OCEAN

BY VIRGINIA SWAIN

NEW YORK—"Anything that a man can do and a lot more besides," is the motto of Mrs. Lottie Moore Schoemmel, New York long distance swimmer who recently made a 133-mile swim from Albany to New York, beating the record of Mrs. Mille Glade Corson, successful channel swimmer.

In Lottie's case, the hand that rocks the cradle also works a switchboard, wields a hammer, knits, embroiders, plays the piano, excels in the Australian crawl, rescues 35 or 37 drowning persons each season, and, when necessary, rips open a shark with a neat and graceful flourish.

For sheer versatility, Lottie Schoemmel is likely to find her record unchallenged. At 28, she is the mother of a son, Harold, 11, and a daughter, Ruth, seven, whom she has supported since their birth, by means of her many trades. She has been a telephone operator, carpenter, needlewoman, life saver and professional swimmer at various times.

Now she plans to attempt to swim across the English channel and back, without stopping, next July. The channel has been her dream for many years, but she could never find financial backing to attempt it. She appealed to many organizations and to many wealthy men for the necessary $500. But not until recently did she find a backer.

Anne Nichols, of the world-famous "Abie's Irish Rose," heard of Mrs. Schoemmel and offered to furnish the money.

In January, Mrs. Schoemmel will make the swim from San Pedro to Catalina Islands. For this she is having made a special swimming suit, equipped with a shark knife attached to its belt.

"I'm not afraid of sharks," she says, "because my father taught me how to kill them. You know they never attack anything black. That is why negroes can swim in safety through shark-infested waters. So I am using black axils grease instead of white oil, as protection against the cold."

"When a shark heads for you in the water, just dive under him and come up beneath his stomach. Then plunge your knife into him and finish him off with one stroke. But don't bungle your first blow, or you are gone."

The training for the Catalina Island swim consists of an hour or two a day in New York harbor through November and December, with the water often below freezing temperatures.

The champion swimmers of New York have tried the same test. But they come out shivering in a minute or two, while Lottie Schoemmel disports herself, warmer than on dry land, she declares.

"Women are better swimmers than men," she says. "I've taught hundreds of both sexes to swim. The women have more endurance float better, stay warm in the water, and show far more natural aptitude than the men."

Not even the channel represents the ultimate goal of her ambition. There's always the Atlantic ocean.

"It would be quite possible, in relays," she says, "with a touch of seriousness. 'One could start from Newfoundland with a boat following swim in daily relays, climb on board the boat at night, and pursue the swim for several months, till one reached England.'"

"Some day I'd like to try it."

own vanity staining her face and throat.

"Only a hundred and fifty," the woman beamed. "Isn't it a marvelous bargain? Straight from Paris! We just received it today."

Without a word, Faith began to untasten the snaps. The door of the fitting booth was opened wide by another saleswoman, closely followed by Selma Pruitt.

"Oh, beg pardon! I thought this booth was not occupied."

"Why, Faith, is that you? May I come in?" Selma Pruitt bustled past the apologizing woman and rushed up to Faith. "My dear, how marvelous you are in that dress! No wonder George is mad about you! For the wedding?"

"Yes," Cherry spoke up gaily. "She's going to be my maid of honor, and oh, Selma, I'd adore having you as one of the bridesmaids! Frances Warren will be the other. Only the three of you—Faith and Frances and you, if you'll do me the honor."

"Goodness! Selma Pruitt laughed ruefully. "Could I possibly find a dress to stand comparison with Faith's? You gorgeous thing! May I tell you tomorrow, Cherry? It's to be Thanksgiving Day, isn't it?"

TOMORROW: Enter, Madame Denise, modisto extraordinary.

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

The Cherry that went her impetuous way from shop to shop was a revelation to Faith. She moved with a new dignity, her head, braced in a close-fitting golden brown velvet cloche held high with the consciousness of unlimited money to spend, and the conviction that, as the affianced bride of one of the city's richest and most prominent men, she was the envy of the girls and women who served her almost humbly.

"Haven't you something a little better than this—more distinctive?" she asked Faith time after time by saying in her dignified, money-conscious new voice—a little bored and very nonchalant, but as eager as a child's when she whispered to Faith.

No one would have dreamed that she came from the humble working man's cottage on Myrtle street. She moved from department to department like a proud little queen, did daintily of what they had to show her, but royally gracious and determined to make the best of the town's poor shopping facilities. Little Cherry! Cherry, who had never had fifty dollars at one time in her life before!

Cherry took an immense satisfaction in trying on dress after dress that was too large for her, although she pretended to be annoyed with her miniature body.

"It's simply dreadful to be so tiny," she said, lapping the superfluous folds of a size sixteen evening dress about her childishly short and slim body. "Just look! This will nearly go around me twice! Haven't you a size fourteen? I suppose I'll have to have everything made to order, or go to New York to buy my trousseau!"

"It can be altered, Miss Lane," the saleswoman hovered over the little figure, her head tilted in an attitude of profound admiration. "My stars! There's not a girl in town that would not give ten years of her life to be built like you! Just like a fairy, isn't she?" she turned to Faith.

"Oh, Faith wouldn't change," Cherry laughed airily. "An artist once told me she'd never seen a more perfect Venus de Milo, and she's been acting up to the compliment ever since. Faith, darling, do try on some of these frocks! They aren't half bad, really. For a woman-sized person, I mean. My sister's a perfect thirty-six," she told the saleswoman.

"I have just the dress for you, Miss Lane," the saleswoman clasped her hands and beamed upon Faith. "Just a minute, dearie. I just know you won't be able to resist it." With a bright smile at the sisters over her shoulder, she vanished from the fitting room.

"You're certainly pulling a heavy Ritz line," Faith laughed a little uneasily. "But I do wish you wouldn't spend so much—or rather, charge so much to Mr. Cluny. It makes me nervous to see you—you don't even bother to ask what some things cost."

"What difference does it make?" Cherry twirled gracefully on the shining toe of a size sixteen Oxford. "Oh, Faith, look! Isn't that gorgeous? Why, it's just the dress I've dreamed of for you! You lucky thing! I wish I could wear that shade of red, but it's the one color my hair simply can't get next to."

Faith stood up, her hands fumbling at the fastenings of her shabby old navy blue silk dress, her great brown eyes widening with delight and desire. The dress was of lipstick red

"These shoes will look awful with that dress," she deprecated nervously, but she extended her arms almost reverently to have the dress slipped over her shoulders.

"A perfect fit," the saleswoman stood off to survey the effect. "My! I wouldn't have believed a dress could make so much difference! Clothes certainly make the woman, don't they?"

Faith stared at her mirrored image as if she had never seen herself before. Her tall, splendid body looked superb, regal. The brilliant red had worked magic on her skin, her hair, her eyes. As she turned slowly before the mirror, a flush of shame at her odorous air of a woman who has come into her own.

When America was young, the wise pioneer women learned to gather, in woods and fields, the remedies the Indians used. From the rafters of colonial houses hung great bunches of dried roots and herbs. From these, in times of sickness, the busy mother brewed remedies for her family.

From roots and herbs, Lydia E. Pinkham, a descendant of these sturdy pioneers, made her Vegetable Compound. For more than half a century this dependable medicine has been taken by women with very satisfactory results.

If it had helped other women, why shouldn't it help you? adv.

SMITH IS SEEKING MATERIAL FOR HIS BASKETBALL TEAM

Graduations Remove Four of Last Year's Stellar Basket-ers

Kaukauna—Coach William Smith will start his basketball team on their long training period before the first game with Oconto Falls here on January 7. Smith has very little veteran material left to work with, having lost Gonyo and Farwell, star guards of last year, George Boyd and Walter Kilgas. All four have graduated. He also lost Gordon Welch, another regular forward on last year's team. Welch has dropped out of school. Among the men around whom he must mold a team are Macorrie, McFadden, M. Miller, Esler, "Cub" Farwell and Verbeten. William Ludke and Alvin Kronfort, two other likely candidates were injured during the football season and will not be able to play basketball.

Candidates will turn out for practice every afternoon this week. Smith plans to have the more experienced players pick out four other men for a team of their own and then have all of the teams entered in a tournament to be played in December. The plan was followed last year and was highly successful, for over eighty men turned out for basketball regularly.

PLAN TO REROUTE
HIGHWAY 57 NEAR
FOREST JUNCTION

New Road Would Change Location Sufficiently to Pass Through Village

Special to Post-Crescent

Forest Junction—Road building projects outlined at the recent session of the Calumet-co board at Chilton have revived discussion here of a proposed rerouting of state trunk highway 57 in this vicinity which would remove the highway from its present location 1 1/2 miles west of here to pass directly through the village. Leaving its present location at a point about a mile north of the village of Hilbert, the new route, according to a local member of the board, would follow the west side of the St. Paul railroad track, northward to the Brown-co line to connect with the new road which is to be constructed in that county next summer southward from Askeston. The tentative date for the completion of the project is 1928.

Considerable difficulty would be encountered in the passage through the village, where the street along the railroad track is only 80 feet wide and partly occupied by number of the principal business establishments.

MAY REORGANIZE ASSOCIATION

Local breeders of the Holstein cattle are interested in a movement to restore Calumet-co to its former position as a home of Holstein cattle by reorganizing the Calumet County Holstein Breeders' association. A meeting for this purpose will be held at the courthouse at Chilton this Saturday.

A program has been arranged at which discussion will center around better and higher markets for cattle, herd testing and eradication of tuberculosis.

Coming from the National Holstein sale held at Waukesha on Tuesday and Wednesday, Condy Sitko and son Frank, proprietors of the Greenfield dairy farm near White Haven, Luzerne-co, Pa., spent two days here making purchases of Holstein cattle from local breeders who had also attended the sale. Nine head of purebreds and two grade Holsteins were purchased, and will be taken over the St. Paul road for their new home in Pennsylvania on Friday evening.

Leonard and Edwin Seybold and Frank Kloein attended the conclusion of the National sale which was held at Watertown on Thursday and Friday, and purchased two cows. One from the Beck dairy farm in Ohio made a record at three years of age of 847 lbs of butter in one year, the other from the Ona company of Ohio has no record.

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

ONLY 60 CASES OF CONTAGION IN CITY

Health Officer Says Situation Better Than Last Year at This Time

The annual fall contagion, has reached Appleton, according to Dr. W. C. Felton, city health officer, while other cities near Appleton are being visited with various types of serious contagious diseases, the only ones prevalent in Appleton up to this time are measles, whooping cough and chicken pox.

While none of these diseases are considered serious in themselves, according to Dr. Felton, great danger lies in the fact that death often results from complications when the patient is not given the best of care. He pointed to the fact that there are more deaths from complications following measles than from diphtheria and scarlet fever put together.

At the present time there are about 25 cases of measles, 25 cases of whooping cough and 10 of chicken pox and six of whooping cough which were reported and placarded last week.

"Many people are alarmed at the present situation," Dr. Felton declared, "but it is only a regular fall epidemic following the opening of school. There is bound to be a spread of contagion at this time of the year. The situation at this time is no worse than it has been at this same time any other year, in fact, it is a little better."

An unusual fact about the epidemic this year, according to Dr. Felton, is that there are so many cases of measles. It is seldom that there is an epidemic of measles two successive years, he said, because usually in the first epidemic all children have the disease and it not often occurs the second time in the same person.

One of the greatest difficulties in checking contagion is the fact that many people whose children are ill do not call a physician because they object to being quarantined, Dr. Felton explained.

COMPLETE ALL WORK ON LITTLE KAUKAUNA DAM

Finishing touches on the Little Kaukauna dam at Rapid Crouche were completed last week. The dam has been fitted with a string of ornamental lights along the entire length of the board walk and electric motors for the purpose of lowering and raising the eight emergency flood gates. The dam is 587.7 feet long and is built of concrete and steel. It is probably the finest dam on the Fox river, according to E. F. Everett, United States engineer. Work on the structure was started two years ago when the need for a new dam became apparent as flood waters carried out a section of the dam and locks near the east shore of the river. Navigation was closed for an entire season on this account.

The new dam has been built to allow a six foot navigation depth and the eight flood gates will care for any amount of flood water which the river may carry. Howard Palmer of Appleton, United States Junior engineer, was in charge of the building operations.

Mrs. Earl Fulcer, 1008 W. Oklahoma-st., submitted to an operation for appendicitis Thursday at St. Elizabeth hospital.

"FOR SHAME!" SAID HE,
"SO YOU MARRIED ME FOR ALIMONY ONLY!"

So that's it! Alimony! That's what you married me for, is it— you shameless parasite, you—

A maid, with a comical complex, hastily rises from her position at the keyhole and wobbles to the cloak closet across the hall. A cook retreats from the stand, she shared with the maid and the door opens.

Peter Williams, with face so red reflecting as a barometer the height of the man's temper, backs out.

And then the fun began.

Peter Williams turns to find the maid with his overcoat and hat which he accepts rather hurriedly and departs for the clubs . . . and another bark flounders near the Rocks of Divorce, tossed by the High Seas of Matrimony.

This is just one of the many incidents of an exciting nature which are featured in the picture, "For Alimony Only," starring Leatrice Joy, which will be on view at the Fischer's Appleton Theatre Thanksgiving and Friday.

The cast in support of Miss Joy is not a large one, and besides the star and her leading man, Olive Brook, only three actors, Lillian Tushman, Casson Ferguson, and Toby Claude, are important members.

A Life Saver for Your Car

EXCEPT in the case of accidents, cars die a gradual death. Dr. Clare E. Griffin of the University of Michigan has made some interesting estimates from statistics on the length of life of automobiles.

In his "Life History of the Automobile" he says that of any 100,000 automobiles beginning life at the first of any year, 220 will be junked the first year; 2,051 the second; 4,400 the third; 6,750 the fourth; 8,920 the fifth; and 10,670 the sixth; etc.

What sends some cars to the scrap heap while others of the same age are still serving a useful life?

Faulty lubrication in most cases. That is the most important single cause for the premature demise of automobiles.

Keep your car perfectly lubricated with Polarine and you will literally save its life. Polarine is the most perfect protection that could be devised for the motor of an automobile. Heat and friction cannot break its tough film. You can depend on Polarine to protect all the moving parts of the engine at all times.

Polarine is the result of years of experience and scientific work. It is one of the major products of an organization that is noted for its absolute dependability.

Polarine is a life saver for an automobile and a worry saver for the man who drives it. If you have had trouble with your car, you will appreciate the pleasure of driving a car that runs smoothly—a car that is properly lubricated.

Polarine will save your car from the junk heap and it will promote a smooth performance that will add immeasurably to the pleasure of motoring.

"AMATEUR GENTLEMAN" SEES BARTHELMESS IN IDEAL ROLE

Richard Barthelmess, noted for the versatility and charm of his many characterizations on the screen, has found a vehicle worthy of his talents in "The Amateur Gentleman," which is playing at the Elite Theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday. He appears to splendid advantage in the colorful role of Barnabas Beverly Barry and looks amazingly well in the costumes, of the Beau Brummel period.

The story, produced by Inspiration Pictures for First National under the direction of Sidney Olcott, is from the pen of Jeffery Farnol. It deals with the Regency period in England and contains numerous thrilling and dramatic high lights, which are intensified by the harmony and realism of the settings.

Dorothy Dunbar, who is considered a screen "find," is very beautiful as Lady Cleome Meredith, while an exceptional cast appears in support of Barthelmess. The cast includes Gardner James, whose portrayal of Barrymaine is noteworthy; Nigel Barrie, John Miljan, Brandon Hurst, Herbert Grimwood, Billie Bennett, Gino Corrado, J. Edwards Davis and Sidney de Gray.

"THE ROAD TO GLORY"

May McAvoy gives the finest dramatic performance of her career in "The Road to Glory," Fox Film version of Howard Hawks' fine original story at the New Bijou Theatre three days starting today. Fortified with a superb dramatic story and a role that runs the gamut of emotions, this sterling little actress adds new laurels to an already fine list of screen achievements.

"The Road to Glory" is an original story by Howard Hawks, who also directed the picture. It deals dramatically with the part Chance plays in human lives and tells the experience of Judith Allen, played by Miss McAvoy, whom Chance topples from the pedestal of youthful ecstasy to grim despair.

By Chance Judith's father is killed by Chance the girl goes blind and then, with her faith lost, she drives away her youthful sweetheart and turns to the fast life in defiance of man and God.

"The Road to Glory" rises to a crescendo of dramatic action that is tremendous and the denouement that is equally dramatic and effective.

In addition to Miss McAvoy's fine performance, there is equally fine work by a great supporting cast. Leslie Fenton, whose work in "Haved" brought him to the fore in cinema drama plays the boy. Ford Sterling, that always excellent actor, is seen as the father. Rocklife Fellowes is the sort of a villain you will sympathize with. Others in the cast are Milla Davenport and John McSweeney.

What About Tomorrow?

Of course you believe your employees are honest. Otherwise, they wouldn't be in your employ.

And they are honest—today. But what about tomorrow?

Unfortunately, honesty is not necessary a permanent virtue. If it were, our penitentiaries would not be full of convicted embezzlers, each of whom was once an honest man.

Why gamble with human nature, when for a nominal sum, you can GUARANTEE the honesty of all your employees and thus protect yourself against a possible loss?

Scoring 20 points before the first quarter was, over Coach Mark Catlin's Lawrence college gridders ended what had started to be a disastrous season by swamping Northwestern college of Watertown, 38-7, Saturday afternoon at Whiting field. The Blue goal line was never danger though husky Lutheran backs crashed the front wall for small but ready gains, running up three straight first downs in one march. The Blue always held when it was needed and the only Lutheran touch down came as the result of blocked punt deep in the defense territory in the third quarter. Carroll defended its claim to W-1 honors by romping on Lake Forest, 9-0, and Carleton squeezed out the Midwest title from Coe by downing Cornell, 6-0, in the final game while Coe was swamping Beloit.

The work of outstanding though Bloomer's calling of plays and passing and Nason's broken field running and ability to step around the ends, featured the play. Lawrence's largest gains were on passes by the quarterback or Nason's drives. In the first half, Hillman, Joseph, Hinkle, Coe, Counsel and Ott were the strong players. The ends played great ball and with Hinkle formed a pass-receiving duo hard to hold. Hillman especially had a good day on the receiving end of aerial drives. Counsel and Ott smeared play after play, and the Army Navy center punts held the Lutheran wing in hand on runbacks. Barfell also starred in this department.

For Northwestern Haefer at full back played the best game, his plunging cutting large holes in the Blue front wall throughout the game. Haefer's team's only touchdown, Gilbert, right end, was the star of the line. Lawrence scored soon after the kickoff when Counsel recovered a Lutheran fumble on the Red and Black 35-yard line. After a few short gains Bloomer hit Hinkle on a center-eligible play and the big center caught the ball on the five-yard line and scampered over for the first marker. Bloomer kicked goal. The second Blue marker came in the second quarter when Northwestern kicked to Barfell who passed the pigskin to Nason on his 5-yard line. Nason tore down the opposite side of the field behind perfect interference which took out every would be tackler, placing the ball behind the goal line after a 35-yard center. Bloomer tried a pass for the extra point but it was grounded.

After Northwestern had kicked off, Nason went around right end for 50 yards to the Lutheran 35-yard line. Jesup punted to the 4-yard stripe where a Lutheran downed the ball. Northwestern punted on the first play and the ball went out of bounds on the 25-yard line. Three successive plays by Nason, Bloomer and Barfell took it to the 4-yard line and three plunges over and then added a point on a place kick. Nason then scored the remainder of the quarter or the second period in which the Lutheran attack slightly outplayed the Blues, piling up several first downs. Lawrence scored again immediately after the second half started. Bloomer returned a kickoff to midfield and Nason shot through tackle for 12 yards. Bloomer shot a long pass to Hillman who was downed on the 15-yard line. Capt. Counsel was called back from tackle to fullback to try for the touchdown and he plunged over Nason's dropkick was good.

Lawrence took the ball on its own

Big League Pilots Job Not An Envyable Task

New York—The business of being a major league manager is getting to be anything but an enviable one. With the 1925 season only two months over, six managers have already been disposed. It is probable that at least two other changes will be made before the opening of next season.

Some of the shifts were expected. After the mid-season trouble of the Pirates, which practically cost that team the pennant, it was almost certain that Bill McKenchie would be let loose. The Pittsburgh fans in a sense demanded it and Barney Dreyfuss was only too glad to please, knowing they pay the way.

Trojans and Irish IN BIG GRID TILT

Two of Strongest Teams of Country Will Meet in California, Dec. 4

One of the biggest games of the entire football season will be played after the campaign is usually terminated each fall.

This battle will bring Notre Dame and Southern California together on the Pacific coast. The game, which is expected to be the meeting of two of the strongest teams in the country, Rockne's charges have had an unusually successful season while the Trojans boast one of the greatest aggregations that school has ever turned out.

Southern California lost a 13-12 contest to Stanford a few weeks ago, but Notre Dame stands a good chance of going into the big intercollegiate imbroglio with a clean slate.

Middle western teams have not done so well in clashes with the Army Navy this fall. Navy shipped three midwestern eleven and Army one. Notre Dame alone upheld the prestige of its section.

29-yard line soon after when a Northwestern punt went out of bounds. On the second play Bloomer passed to Hillman for 20 yards and the Blue end added 15 more before being passed. After a plunge and two passes, Hillman failed Bloomer three times. Then the ball went to the 25-yard line, after a loss of 8 yards, Northwestern punted to Barfell on the 25-yard line. Plunges by Bloomer took the ball to the goal zone and Nason went over on a spread play. Bloomer place kick hit the crossbar and rebounded back into the field.

A fumble and a blocked punt gave Northwestern its marker. After Lawrence had been penalized 15 yards, Northwestern punted to Barfell who dropped the ball on his 32 yard line, Gilbert recovering. After a 6-yard pass, Fritz punted out of bounds on the Blue 13-yard line. Jesup's punt was blocked on the first play. Gilbert recovering on the 5-yard line. Haefer plunged over to the first play and Fritz kicked goal.

Briece added three points to the Blue score with a 35-yard place kick which was squarely between the posts and then Nason tried a 30-yard dropkick. It was blocked and Counsel picked up the ball and ran 55 yards before being stopped. A pass, Bloomer to Jesup, put the ball on the 11-yard line and then Nason added seven yards, but the Lutheran field was too good for him. Nason tried another dropkick after Northwestern had punted and it was blocked. Briece's place kick hit the uprights and Nason went on a 35-yard run, but he was downed on the 15-yard line. Capt. Counsel was called back from tackle to fullback to try for the touchdown and he plunged over Nason's dropkick was good.

Lawrence took the ball on its own

PURPLE, YOSTMEN TIED FOR HONORS

Neither Squad Has Met Any Opponent of Other; Both Lose Outside Games

Chicago—(P)—The Western conference curtain has descended again with two teams Northwestern and Michigan reigning as undefeated eleven but with the mythical championship in reality undecided.

This season's battles demonstrated that the Big Ten schedule was poorly arranged for the deciding of a championship. While theoretically the Purple and the Wolverines divided honors in reality each was the champion of one half of the conference. Each team won five conference battles, against four Big Ten teams but there was no common point of contact for purposes of comparison, as each victor placed a different set of opponents, and as they did not play each other they stand much in the same as the winners of the National and American League baseball pennants with no world series to settle the argument.

Northwestern defeated Indiana twice and Purdue, Chicago and Iowa once each, while Michigan counted a double victory over Minnesota and single wins over Illinois, Wisconsin and Ohio State.

The Wolverines admittedly played the stronger teams but Northwestern won by consistently larger scores. The Evanston players rolled up the largest point score and also held their opponents to the lowest tally. Michigan barely stayed off defeat twice.

That's as far as comparative records go, except that each team lost one non-conference game, Michigan falling before Navy and Northwestern succumbing to Notre Dame. It might be mentioned however, that Rockne's men had their toughest opponent in the Purple which was within inches of the closest score of their schedule, 9 to 6.

There is one other point of comparison if the football pages are turned back a year for the scanning of Northwestern's 3 to 2 defeat of Michigan last season. Both Northwestern and Michigan suffered one defeat in the 1924 season and on the basis of Northwestern's win the Purple might have claimed the championship. On the contrary it conceded Michigan the title because the Wolverines had played more conference games. That close score, however, indicates how evenly matched the two teams were and as they exhibited the same strength this season football critics believed that a meeting between the two would have produced a spectacular battle.

Chicago—In a game which was filled with thrills and suspense, the Green Bay Packers lost to the Chicago Bears at Cub park here Sunday, the final score being 19 to 13.

It was one of the greatest, if not the greatest, game ever played here and last night's game was also Bears are in commanding position to win title honors in the national professional league.

Green Bay scored first when Lidsberg went over for a touchdown after a forward pass in which Flaherty made a sensational catch, carried the ball to the 50-yard line. Purdy failed to make the extra point as the pass from center was wild and over his head.

The Bears scored shortly after when Harns grabbed a long pass from Driscoll and ran 15 yards to the goal, but Driscoll missed the kick for the extra point. In the second quarter the mighty Paddy Driscoll booted a place kick for 3 points from the 21-yard line after a Green Bay punt had been blocked.

Green Bay then made another touchdown when Driscoll attempted an end run and fumbled after being tackled hard and Leavelle picked up the ball and raced 31 yards to the goal. Purdy made the extra point. In the third quarter the educated toe of Driscoll added 5 more points to the Bears' total when he booted a drop kick from the 44-yard line after a long pass from Walquist to Driscoll had brought the ball into Parker territory.

The final score came in the last quarter, when a Green Bay fumble was picked up by Driscoll and carried 20 yards for the touchdown. Driscoll also made the extra point.

Coming back strong after a defeat by the talented Oshkosh crew the week before, Sheboygan's chairs whipped their old rival Manitowoc high on the Manitowoc field Saturday, 7-6, to tie with Appleton for fourth place in the valley loop with a 50-50 mark. The loss showed the Ship squad down to sixth place just above Fond du Lac. East and West Green Bay complete the conference schedule Thanksgiving day and a West win will tie the Appleton Sheboygan with East for third place for the year. West is a slight favorite though East-West games are never decided except on the field and then not until the last second.

Failure to kick goal after begging a touchdown lost the game for Manitowoc. On the first kickoff Newberry, Manitowoc fullback, ran 80 yards to the Sheboygan 6-yard line where he was downed. Fishbeck then carried the ball to the 1-inch mark from where Wilda scored.

In attempting to make a place kick after the touchdown Wilda was pushed and failed to make the needed point. In the second quarter there long passes, a 15-yard penalty for Manitowoc and four line bucks resulted in a touchdown for the visitors, Kade, fullback, going over for the counter.

Sheboygan high made practically all their gains on forward passes.

CARLETON TAKES MIDWEST HONORS

Northfield, Minn.—Carleton college won the Midwest college conference championship Saturday by defeating Cornell college, 6 to 0.

Chicago—(P)—An average gain of five and a fifth yards every time he took the punts this season gives to Herb Joesting, Minnesota's driving fullback, the reputation of being one of the greatest back field men the Western Conference has seen.

Minus his shoes, Joesting is six feet two inches tall and weighs 192 pounds. Invariably when tackled the Owatonna, Minn., charged dragged one or more men a yard or so before being downed. He gained a total of 562 yards just 55 yards behind Red Grange of Illinois who set a big ten record of 1,017 yards in 1924. Joesting led Western conference players in scoring with 13 touchdowns for a total of 73 points.

Next year is his last at Minnesota.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
JUDITH MARTIN, young college teacher, is admired by ERIC WATERS, radical senior, and Dr. PETER DORN, astronomy professor. MYRA ALDRICH is in love with Eric and jealous of Judith. After many scrapes with the student set, of whom Dorn and DEAN TIMOTHY BROWN disapprove, Judith runs away to the city for a week end. There she stumbles on a secret love affair between the dean's wife and a handsome stranger. The dean's wife throws herself on her mercy and Judith befriends her.

"KITTY" SHEA, of unsavory town reputation, threatens her with exposure of the fact that she and Eric dined at the Blue Moon roadhouse, the night it was raided, and escaped in a rainstorm. Harassed by these worries that night, Judith falls asleep only to be awakened by steps below. She finds Myra, in a coma from poison liquor, leaning against the front door. Judith nurses her through the night. Myra swears to live down the incident, which is the first of its kind. She is grateful to Judith. Next day, Judith goes to a conference suddenly called by the dean. There Dean Brown brings in a newspaper with the headline, "Two Students Die of Poison Booze."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XIX
Dr. Dorn placed a chair for Judith and sat down beside her. Dean Brown cast an appraising eye over the crowd, and with meticulous small routines, smoothed the newspaper out on his table. Then he cleared his throat.

"Fellow faculty members," he said, "you have learned by this time of the appalling disaster which has befallen this university. Every man and woman on the teaching staff must feel that matters in Pendleton have reached a crisis demanding the strongest concerted action on the part of the authorities.

"The existence of liquor among our students is bad enough. We have struggled against the nefarious traffic without cessation. But now come the deaths of two university students as a grim warning that our struggle has, not been determined enough.

"I must call upon every member of the faculty to regard himself or herself as an agent to bring the liquor traders to justice. We must root out this evil."

Judith's head swam. She turned toward the window and strained for a breath of fresh air, pressing her fingers against her temples.

She felt Dr. Dorn's fingers touch her arm reassuringly. "Are you ill?" he whispered. She shook her head.

"The dean continued. 'We know that the liquor which killed young Black and Miss McPherson.' Judith's tightly clenched hands relaxed at these unfamiliar names—'was the sort handled by a certain bootlegger who has long been notorious in our community. We are also convinced that it was distributed by a student colleague of this bootlegger, whose name we are not yet ready to announce. This man has been missing from his fraternity house for nearly twenty-four hours.

"When we do find the evidence to prove that these men brought the liquor into student circles, we shall turn them over to the police to be punished by the full power of the law."

"In the meantime, it behooves us to work ceaselessly for the rescue of the young people who walk constantly in temptation."

He cleared his throat again and poured out a glass of water from the white pitcher on the table. Dr. Dorn stirred suddenly and stood up. The audience turned its battery of eyes on him.

He was crowding up, eager to hear Judith's words. She turned deliberately and spoke clearly, so that they should not be disappointed. "The dean be hanged. I shall keep my own opinion."

Judith stood up. The room was ominously quiet. The dean stood in the same spot, dazedly wiping his neck with a silk handkerchief, while scared henchmen hovered about him, awaiting the collision.

It did not come. Judith walked toward the door. Dr. Dorn rose to follow her. She stepped out into the cool, dark corridor, and he was at her heels. She went on without speaking, until they reached the portico. There she turned about and faced him with a kind of desperation. "Why have you come with me?"

The professor looked at the floor. "Why—I don't know," he answered miserably. "Would you rather I hadn't?"

"It will ruin you with Dean Brown," she remarked scornfully. "He has put me in his black lists forever."

Dr. Dorn frowned. "I suppose so, though you are technically within your rights. You surely have the right to believe or disbelieve in anybody you please. Still—perhaps it would be as well—understand, I'm speaking only for your own good—not to be seen too much with young Waters or others of his type. The dean dislikes social relations between students and teachers."

"Indeed! Dean Brown has been talking about me to you?"

Dr. Dorn colored and looked down. "No—nothing of any importance. I just thought—"

"I know," she interrupted, "he's told you I was running around with wild men and disgracing myself. He hates me because I won't give up all joy in life just to be a staid old teacher."

"Why, do you know that he dared to suggest that Eric and I went away together?"

Something in the face of the man made her stop on the steps and stare. "Oh, he told you that too!" she cried, and wheeled about and walked away from him. Dr. Dorn hurried after her. He put his hand on her arm and forced her to meet his eyes. "Listen,"

he begged. "It makes no difference what he said. I know you, Judith. I try to make allowances for Brown."

TAG DAY OF ARMY ALMOST WASN'T HELD

The tag day conducted in the city Saturday by the Salvation Army as a part of its annual financial campaign almost came to a halt shortly after the workers had been distributed about the city Saturday morning.

After a half hour or so of anxiety on the part of Army officials, however, the workers were permitted to continue with their sales as a result of some prompt action by Mayor Albert C. Rule and the common council.

THE GREAT TEMPTATION
(Overheard by "Rusty" Lippert)
Andy Ames, the amiable and capable notary public and fertilizer salesman of Squash Corners, took a nail out of his suspenders to pick his teeth. "Yes, sir," he said, "you can talk about intelligence all you want, but the smartest animal that ever lived was Jake Mitchell's brindle cow Sappho."

"Sappho learned easy. Jake taught her how to let herself in and out of the barn. She learned to tie the chains around the other cows' necks, and it was a pathetic thing to see her trying to fasten the chain at the back of her own neck."

"One day when the family was gone, she took the key from under the old rag rug on the back porch, let herself into the house and wound the clock. On the way out she knocked down a flower pot and broke it. She got a broom and swept up all the pieces, and when the family came home she was standing in the barn door, crying. She had picked a large board off the woodpile and held it out to Jake so he could lick her with it."

CONSTITUTION FOR NEW ATHLETIC LOOP VIEWED AT MEETING

Representatives of 12 High Schools Attend Gathering at Green Bay

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The first meeting of the Northwestern Wisconsin High School Athletic conference was held at Green Bay Saturday. Twelve of the thirteen schools which had previously signified their intention of joining were represented, including New London, Algoma, Two Rivers, Shawano, Clintonville, East De Pere, West De Pere, Kaukauna, Kewaunee, Neenah, Menasha, Oconto Falls and Sturgeon Bay.

About two years ago Superintendent R. J. McMahon of the local public schools realizing the need of closer contact among the schools of the Fox River Valley in all forms of contest work, began perfecting plans for an organization which would include representation from these schools. An attempt was made to secure a meeting during the recent teachers convention at Milwaukee but a sufficient number of the schools in this district were not represented. At that time it was decided to hold a meeting at Green Bay on Nov. 20.

A temporary constitution, drawn up by Mr. McMahon, was presented and considered. This matter will be brought up for decision at the next conference in the spring.

The prime purpose of the conference is to league all schools in the Fox River Valley and simplify the matter of securing dates for contest work. Moreover, with the decision made at the Milwaukee Teachers convention to do away with all state public school contests, the need was felt for contest work within a smaller radius.

All forms of high school contest work including athletics, music, public speaking, etc., will be taken care of at the conference meetings which will be held biannually.

Fox River Paper Mills Employee Is Jubilant At Quick Relief

Declares Ten Days of Drego Has Almost Completely Overcome a Bad Case of Stomach Distress.

If you are a sufferer from a deranged nervous system, indigestion, blood impurities, rheumatism or similar ills, do not delay another day. Get a supply of Drego from the Drego Expert at Schilz Bros. Drug Store and give it a chance to wipe out your troubles just as it has done for so many other men and women in this section.

Read how it helped Mr. Wilbur Whitlock, 600 North Clark St., this city, a well-known employee of the Fox River Paper Mills. He says:

"I can hardly believe that so little Drego could make such an amazing change in me but it's a fact that since taking this great new tonic I feel like an entirely different man."

Ten days ago I was very discouraged. My stomach had been bothering me greatly for some time and it just seemed that I couldn't get any relief. Everything I ate caused me distress. Sometimes I had heartburn so bad it felt like a lump of red hot coals in my stomach and even a piece of toast would sour and begin forming gas as soon as it reached my stomach. Sour acids would rise in my throat and I always had a stale nasty taste in my mouth.

"A few days after I started on Drego I began feeling better and now, ten days after, I can honestly recommend it to everyone and am right now getting a large bottle for my wife. Even in the short time I have been taking it Drego has almost entirely overcome the indigestion and gastritis and it has completely relieved the heartburn, acid risings and soreness in my stomach. I now have more pep and a bigger appetite than at any time since I was a kid."

Mr. W. C. Marr Baker, the well-known Expert from the Drego Laboratories now at Schilz Bros. Downtown Drug Store, is telling scores of people every day how to make Drego for best results. Go to see him.

$4,300 AVAILABLE FOR SNOW REMOVAL

Supervisors Vote Another $3,000 to Keep Roads Open in Winter

After having referred a highway committee resolution providing for an appropriation of $3,000 for snow removal back to the committee last Friday, the city board of supervisors Saturday unanimously adopted it. This sum, together with a $1,300 surplus reported by the highway department, will give the county well over $4,000 with which to keep its roads clear of snow this winter.

The only road specifically designated in the resolution is highway 15 between Kaukauna and the Brown-co line.

RELAX IF YOU WOULD ENJOY RIDE IN PLANE

If you would get the maximum enjoyment out of an airplane flight, don't worry. Relax, settle back and enjoy life. If there's any worrying to be done, let the pilot do it; that's what he's hired for.

This is the advice offered by the Detroit-Grand Rapids Airline, operated by Stout Air Services, Inc., which opened the first strictly passenger airline in the United States between Ford Airport, Detroit, Mich., and the new model Grand Rapids Airport in that city. This is the first unit of the projected "Detroit, St. Paul and Western" airline which is expected to open in the spring, according to a bulletin received from the organization by the chamber of commerce.

The planes, which are built by the Ford organization, are made entirely of duralumin metal and steel alloys, and are the strongest plane of this type in the world. They are automatically stable, and if the pilot would put his machine in any position and then release the controls, the plane would return automatically to the normal flying position. The bulletin states: "Take the turns, naturally, with the plane, passengers are further advised. Just as a race track is banked at the corners, so an airplane is tilted when making a perfect turn. Don't try to hold the lower wing up with the muscles of the abdomen—it's unfair to yourself and unjust criticism of your pilot."

ORGANIZATION OF SENATE MAY HINGE ON SHIPSTEAD VOTE

If Vare and Smith Are Unseated Minnesota Senator May Dictate Committees

Washington—If the United States senate refuses to seat William S. Vare and Frank L. Smith, as seems far more than likely, the organization of the senate will be dictated by Senator Henrik Shipstead.

With Vare and Smith out of it, the senate lineup will be: Democrats, 47; Republicans, 46; Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, 1. The Farmer-Laborite is Shipstead.

With Vare and Smith out of it, the senate lineup will be: Democrats, 47; Republicans, 46; Farmer-Labor, 1. The Farmer-Laborite is Shipstead.

The Democrats will submit their list of committee candidates. The Republicans will submit theirs.

The Democrats will cast 47 votes for theirs and if Shipstead votes with them that will win it. The Republicans will cast 46 votes for theirs and if Shipstead votes with them he'll make it a tie, which Vice President Davis will break by voting with the Republicans.

SIX IRRECONCILABLES The 46 Republicans include six irreconcilable Progressives, who will vote against the regulars on most propositions, but their precedent is to throw their strength to the latter on committee assignments.

Presumably they will do so on this coming occasion. This is assuming that the regulars' committee selections are reasonably acceptable. The irreconcilables, but it's safe to predict that they will be. The regulars will want their own organization. They'll realize that their only way of getting it is by at least semi-satisfying the irreconcilables—and also Senator Shipstead. So they will have to make concessions.

So will the Democrats. The Democrats have less insurgency in their ranks than the Republicans.

They will not have to make many concessions to insurgency in their own ranks, but must make them to Senator Shipstead. Otherwise he'll vote with the Republicans.

COMMITTEES IMPORTANT Congressional committee assignments are highly important.

The committees don't have quite the last word to say on pending measures. Their recommendations can be turned down, but they seldom are. Occasionally they are a good deal modified, but they generally get through in substance.

A committee can also pigeon hole propositions it doesn't like, and when that happens, it is extremely difficult to drag them out into the light again. Then there's prestige. A Republican administration doesn't like to have a Senatorial of Democratic committees.

TAKE IT FROM HIM

And a Senatorial of Democratic committees can seriously gum the program of a Republican administration.

NO STRINGS TO SHIPSTEAD

Even an insurgent feels under some slight obligations to his party label. Usually he thinks he has discharged them by voting for his party committee. Up to that point, unless his feelings are too violently outraged by selections he disapproves of, he's regular. This applies to both Republicans and Democrats.

But Senator Shipstead has absolutely no strings on him. He has complete freedom of choice between the two big party committees. What's more, it seems pretty certain that he will have the casting vote between them.

So the next senate, in all probability, will be organized by Henrik Shipstead instead of Minnesota.

INTEREST CLUBS FORMED AT SCHOOL

New Organizations Will Start Functioning Tuesday Afternoon, Nov. 23

Seven Interest clubs will be started at the McKinley junior high school Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 23, and nearly all pupils will be enrolled according to their choices. Teachers have selected the subjects for which they had the greatest interest, and have studied and read in preparation for work in the groups.

The administration of the clubs will be voluntary within the group. Teachers may appoint committees which will plan the weekly work, and the organization may be planned by the members. A record of the week's accomplishments will be made and filed in the school office.

Each faculty sponsor will explain the work of her group at a general assembly meeting Thursday afternoon, and the students will then make their selections. The clubs will meet from 3:25 to 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoons.

The clubs and sponsors will be: McKinley Players, Melville Wright; Arts and Crafts, Miss Lona Draheim; Electrical, Dale Schuppener; Picture Gallery, Miss Mary Rogers; Music, Miss Rita Verhulst; Poetry, Walter Fox; Science, F. B. Younger.

BERKEY LEAVES CONSOLIDATED CO.

Former Manager of Interlake Plant Resigns Wisconsin Rapids Position

George P. Berkey, vice president and general manager of the Consolidated Water Power and Paper Co. at Wisconsin Rapids and manager of the Interlake Pulp and Paper Co. plant here from 1916 to 1920, resigned his position at Wisconsin Rapids last Friday. Mr. Berkey said he had not formulated his plans for the future.

Mr. Berkey came to Appleton soon after the Consolidated company took over the Interlake plant and he remained here until 1920 when he was recalled to Wisconsin Rapids to become general manager of the company. Later he was elected a director and vice president. He also was an officer and director of the Thunder Bay Co. Ltd., and other subsidiaries of the parent company.

Mr. Berkey joined the Consolidated organization in 1903 shortly after his graduation from Yale university.

Announcement of the resignation of J. P. Witter and his son, J. D. Witter, was announced at the same time. Mr. Witter was treasurer of the company and he sold his stock to George W. Mead, president. Mr. Witter, it is said, owned approximately one-fourth of the stock of the company.
